SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

—TO—

REAL ESTATE OWNERS AND AGENTS.

The utility of FIRST-CLASS PHOTOGRAPHIC VIEWS in describing property is fully appreciated by all who have favored me with orders for this class of work. I shall hereafter have one of my most able assistants reside in Los Angeles to execute promptly all orders for taking views of ranches, residences, etc., in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, San Diego and adjacent country. Inquiries or orders addressed to my BRANCH VIEW DEPARTMENT, the Nadeau House, Los Angeles, will receive prompt attention. Do not fail to pass a pleasant hour inspecting the new and beautiful assortment of Los Angeles, Pasadena and other views.

CIGARETTES

Are indorsed and recommended as the acme of perfection by every cigarette smoker who has tried them.

LOCAL NEWS.

Fred Henry Held for Assault to Murder.

Felipe Yorba Proves a Somewhat Expensive Target.

An Infamous Enterprise by San Francisco Procurers.

John Goldsworthy Sees Henry Niemeyer for $40,000—The Bricklayers Join the Ranks of the Strikers—Hand Amputated—Borden vs. Borden.

The case of Fred Henry, charged with an assault to commit murder, came up for preliminary hearing before Justice Austin yesterday afternoon.

F. A. Yorba testified that on Sunday evening last he was shaking dice with some friends in a saloon on the corner of Aliso and Vignes streets; that Henry came in and said, "Give me a show." Henry and the rest of the party shook dice for a time, which finally resulted in a tie between Yorba and Henry. They shook again and Yorba won, which fact was disputed by Henry. Yorba grabbed Henry, who made an attempt to draw a weapon, and both men fell to the floor. They were separated, and Henry left the place. About half an hour after Yorba was told that Henry was coming and to look out for him. Yorba was leaning on his arm over the bar, and turning around saw Henry, who drew a pistol and fired, hitting Yorba in the right breast. Yorba then dove under the billiard table just in time to prevent Henry from firing again. Henry was then disarmed and arrested by Officer McKenzie.

Frank Escallia, the proprietor of the place, testified that the men were shaking dice, and that Henry and Yorba got into a difficulty; that Henry left and came back and fired a shot at Yorba. That he (the witness) rushed out and grabbed Henry, and that his clerk took the pistol away from him.

Samuel Hunter testified that he was standing at the bar. He heard Yorba say, "You are no good." They got to scuffling and both fell over against the billiard table. Witness saw Henry have a knife during the day, and told him to put it away. Witness held Henry in the row between the men, and told him to go home, and he went. About half an hour afterward he saw Henry coming down the street with his hand in his back pocket, and fearing that there was going to be trouble, ran inside and told Yorba to look out, there was going to be trouble. Henry walked in the store and fired the pistol. Witness held Henry in the corner and took a knife away from him.

Two other witnesses testified corroborative of the foregoing. The defense offered no testimony, and the case was submitted without argument.

Henry was held to answer the charge, with bail fixed in the sum of $2000.

AN INFAMY.

Procurers from San Francisco Starting in Here.

One of San Francisco's richest procurers, named Kelley, has taken up his residence in this city for the purpose of carrying on a business that has long been a disgrace to this State. An agency has been established in San Francisco by a company of pimps, for the purpose of running young girls to this city, and the first invoice arrived last Saturday. The wretches make it a point to get acquainted with good looking shop girls, and as soon as they get on friendly terms with the unsuspecting girls, they tell them what a wonderful country Southern California is, and the poor girls are crazy to come down as soon as the sharper tells them that the salaries are about double down here. Several of the girls who were brought down last week belong to very respectable families, and their poor mothers think their daughters are working in stores for princely salaries. The procurers intend to build bagnios on a large scale in this city, where the girls will be taken as soon as they have been mined. In fact, that is Kelley's mission here at the present time. The police will try to block his nefarious game.

"ENOUGH OF DOT."

One Experience With a Pistol Suffices Mr. Henry.

B. Henry hails from Anaheim, and on his arrival in this city on Monday night last he concluded to take in the sights. He managed to steer himself down on Alameda street and into one of the brothels there situate, and also to make himself so numerous with a peculiarly-fashioned pistol as to get himself arrested.

Mr. Henry is not particularly well versed in the English language, but managed to make the court comprehend his meaning. "I take no out my pocket," said Mr. Henry. "I vas a traveler, when I got vork, and I look for a shob. I vas from Anaheim."

Attorney Dunn asked him if it was not a fact that he did enter one of the houses, and Mr. Henry hung his head and was suffused with blushes. The Court, taking pity on his feelings, told him he might go, and admonished him to put his little gun away when he was not traveling.

He was told to take the weapon, but he started for the street without it. He was called back, but no amount of coaxing could induce him to carry the pistol out of court. He finally took it and presented it to Mr. Dunn, saying: "I vas had enough of dot."

THE BRICKLAYERS.

They Demand $6 Per Day—Many Still Out.

A TIMES reporter met one of the officers of the Bricklayers' Union on South Main street yesterday afternoon and asked the news about the strike. The officer stated that the union had ordered a strike, and that the demand was $6 per day of nine hours—the former wages having been $5. The majority of the contractors having large jobs in the city have acceded to the demands of the union, but wanted the privilege of turning off the poorer class of workmen and retaining the best. This proposition did not seem to suit the union, and a large majority of the members still refuse to go to work. There are about seventy-five resident union men in the city, and a great number who belong to unions elsewhere, at work on several large contracts in the city.

BORDEN'S BETTER HALF.

She Makes a Little Scene Upon the Streets.

About 10 o'clock yesterday morning an exciting scene was enacted on the corner of Temple and Spring streets between J. H. Borden and his wife over the possession of one of their children.

Mr. Borden, who is a deputy sheriff, was passing by the corner named with his little boy when he was met by his wife, whom he lately sued for a divorce. Mrs. Borden called the boy to her, and Mr. Borden allowed him to go. Mrs. Borden suddenly grasped the child in her arms and ran across the street. A crowd soon collected. Mr. Borden followed, and a wordy war ensued.

Mr. Borden claimed that his wife was carrying his children around the country, and he did not wish it.

The quarrel was finally compromised, the mother agreeing to take the children (there being two of them) to El Monte, where the father might see them and care for them until the divorce case is finally settled.

FOR $40,000.

John Goldsworthy Brings Suit Against Henry Niemeyer.

John Goldsworthy yesterday filed papers in a suit against Henry Niemeyer for a large sum. Plaintiff states that on the 25th of June last he contracted to buy from Niemeyer eight acres in the Niemeyer tract, on Wolfskill street, and paid $50 down to bind the bargain. Niemeyer gave him a receipt on that basis. Now, he alleges, Niemeyer refuses to carry out

EAST AND WEST.

SENSIBLE VIEWS OF A CLEAR-HEADED MERCHANT,

Who Is Just Back from a Four Months' Sojourn in the East—The Nation's Eyes on California—An Interesting Talk.

B. F. Coulter, the well-known dry-goods man, and one of the most extensive merchants in Southern California, got back early yesterday morning from a four-months' sojourn in the East, where he has been on business. In conversation yesterday with a TIMES representative Mr. Coulter said:

"The severe drouth which has prevailed in Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and parts of Kentucky and Tennessee is felt in business, and causes considerable depression. In one part of Kentucky they told me they had not had a drop of rain in ten weeks—which, in that country, at this season of the year, means absolute ruin of the crops. I have not seen before in twenty years such wretched-looking crops as are now in the rich Ohio valleys."

"You found Eastern people keenly interested in California, of course?"

"Yes, indeed. Wherever I was, when people found I was from Los Angeles, they fairly overwhelmed me with questions about this country. The interest seemed universal. I had almost said I did not meet a single person during the four months of my absence who did not catechise me about this State, and Los Angeles is by far the best advertised part of it."

"And the interest is largely taking shape in a desire to come and see for themselves, is it not?"

"Yes. There will be an unprecedented immigration this winter. In fact, if all the eastern people who wish to come out here could sell their places, we would have thousands of immigrants where we now have hundreds. All classes are anxious to come. I was asked innumerable times: 'Isn't your boom overrated? Won't the bottom drop out pretty soon?' My answer was: 'We have a different element in our boom from the booms of Kansas City, Omaha, Chicago and other progressive eastern cities—an element which gives our boom the quality of permanency. Those cities have enterprise, money and railroads—three very great factors in a boom, but none of them factors of permanent progress. We have enterprise, money and railroads; and besides these we have something still more important—something which enterprise cannot develop, which money cannot buy, which railroads cannot ship in; something which is unchanging and enduring, and an everlasting attraction—our climate. It is the greatest of all our gifts. It is a thing which cannot be described—you must come and experience it to understand it. They can't understand it. When they would pick out their most perfect day, and I would say 'we can give you 250 like this every year,' they could hardly believe me; nor when I would tell them of sleeping under blankets every night in the year.'"

"They evidently are not yet aware that Los Angeles has not only the finest winter climate, but also the finest summer climate in the world?"

"No, they are not. They were constantly asking, 'Doesn't it get fearfully hot there?' They will find out the truth, however, by degrees. I have suffered more from heat in the last four months East than in all the ten years I have lived in Los Angeles."

"One thing struck me very forcibly," continued Mr. Coulter, thoughtfully. "The East seems to have made no material change in the last ten years. While we have developed a new world out here, the East remains almost as it was ten years ago. Of course the cities are greater, richer and handsomer; but the condition of the country shows little or no improvement. While business in the great cities has collected great fortunes, the farmers are no better off—in many cases not so well off as ten years ago. The Eastern farmer is not sharing the prosperity of the country. It is a significant and a serious fact. Yes, the farmers are as anxious to come to California as are the capitalists; and they are coming as fast as they can."

"What do the people back East think of our rapid growth?"

"They cannot understand it, any more than they can our climate. When I told them that we have four daily papers in Los Angeles, each of eight pages, it seemed incomprehensible to them. They are not aware, of course, of the enormous volume of advertising caused by our real estate activity. Our papers have a pretty large circulation in the East, however, and are doing good missionary work."

"We have just launched two big hotel enterprises during your absence, Mr. Coulter."

"I am glad of it. First-class hotels are an absolute necessity here. An enormous number of people will come here this winter; but we must have some place to keep them or they will go on."

AGUA CALIENTE.

A Very Lively Little Difficulty at the Girls' Home.

There was quite a little war of words at the Girls' Home yesterday between Mrs. H. A. Watson, manager of the home, and Miss Brauer, the matron. It seems that Mrs. Watson was at Long Beach last week, and the management of the home was left in the hands of Miss Brauer. The latter lady was brought here from San Francisco when the home opened, a few months since. She came here highly recommended. Mrs. Watson thought she had a gem, and for a time the matron was all that could be asked. As she became acquainted about town, it is said that a good deal of her time was spent in visiting, and she and Mrs. Watson had several little "spats" on that score, as Mrs. Watson believed that the matron's place was at the home, especially when it was full of girls. During Mrs. Watson's absence Miss Brauer took the reins in her own hands. A little negro girl was committed to the home for four months the other day by Justice Austin, and a day or two before Mrs. Watson's return Miss Brauer was called upon by a lady who lives in the country, and was a perfect stranger. The stranger wanted a girl to do housework, and after looking the girls over she picked out the little darkey. The matron allowed the girl to go, and when Mrs. Watson was made acquainted with this fact the first serious quarrel took place. Mrs. Watson took a hack and drove out to the stranger's house, and brought the girl back and took her to her house. She then started out to look up a new matron, and succeeded in finding one yesterday, whereupon she informed Miss Brauer that her services were no longer required. This so angered the matron that she told Mrs. Watson in plain language that she would not go. She said she came down here for the purpose of taking charge of the home, and that she would stay there in spite of both Mrs. Watson and the trustees.

The new matron will go out to take charge this morning, when it is expected that a pitched battle will take place.

CHARLES DICKENS' DEATH.

His Last Moments Touchingly Described by His Daughter.

[Exchange.]

On the Monday morning the sisters were to leave for London. Charles Dickens had an intense dislike to, and shrinking from, all leave-taking. He never used the word "good-bye" if he could help it, and generally left us for a short absence with a kiss or a nod. But on this day his daughter Kate said, "I must say good-bye to papa," and went over to the chalet, where he was busy writing. As a rule, when he was busy, he would just put up his cheek to be kissed. But this day he took his daughter in his arms, saying: "God bless you, Kate!" And there among the branches of the trees; among the birds and butterflies and scent of flowers, she left him.

All that day and the next he was well, but soon tired—an unusual thing for him. On Wednesday morning he was in excellent spirits, talking to "auntie" about his book, "Edwin Drood," and, as he was to go to his office in London the next day, he would work in the chalet and take no drive or walk until the evening. He once came to the house in the middle of the day, smoked a cigar in the conservatory, which "improvement" he took intense delight in, and went back to the chalet. It was not until he and his sister-in-law, the only member of the family home just then, sat down to dinner that she noticed a change in his color and expression. She asked him if he were ill, and he said: "Yes, very ill; I have been very ill for the last hour."

She was going to send immediately for a doctor, but he forbade her, saying that he would go on with the dinner and to London afterward. He struggled against the fit that was coming on, and she, becoming seriously alarmed, entreated him to come and sit down. "Yes, on the ground," he answered, quite distinctly, and, on her going to assist him, he slid from her arms and fell on the floor. A couch was brought into the dining-room, on which he was laid. Telegrams were sent to his children and to his London doctor, and a messenger sent for the doctor at Rochester, and the faithful friend and companion sat alone, for a time, watching. The two daughters and Mr. Beard arrived that evening, the eldest son the next morning, and his son Henry, from Cambridge, the evening of the 9th, too late, alas.

We watched all through the night and all through the next day, but he never once opened his eyes or showed one sign of consciousness. It was better so for him. The last "good-bye" would have caused him much pain and sorrow. But we could tell the moment—ten minutes past 6 o'clock—when his spirit took flight: A shadow stole across his face, a tear rolled down his cheek, he gave a deep sigh, and he was gone from us.

Peculiarities of the Burmese.

[All the Year Round.]

The Burmese women, without being pretty, are very taking after the first impression their peculiar features make on one has worn off. They are beautifully proportioned, though on a smallish scale, with busts, arms, feet and general contour which might serve as models to the most fastidious painter or sculptor. They are fond of ornaments; all possess some jewelry, and many are covered with it. They all smoke and chew betel nut, but have nice, small, white, even teeth. They can all swim, and delight in dabbling about in water. For orientals, both men and women are a fair race, and where the body is not exposed to the rays of the sun, the skin is as fair as in many European brunettes. There is no restriction on the liberty of a Burmese girl or woman; she is free to mix among her people or to visit European families. The men are not unduly jealous. The wife reigns supreme in the house, and conducts the sale or purchase of all necessaries unchallenged by the husband. A girl's great ambition is to keep a stall in a bazar; it is her introduction into society, and is equivalent to our own girls being brought out. They are a merry, pleasant race, and so struck were the stalwart Seiks, that when, after the last war, they returned to their own country, many took back with them these, comparatively speaking—as to face only—plain women, preferring them as wives and companions to their own far comlier women.

Round various pagodas, living in dilapidated "zyats," may be seen old, decrepit women, with shaven heads, and dressed in white. These are the only outcasts in Burmah. When a woman becomes old, indigent, and has no relations, and is, probably, all but unknown, she becomes a slave of the pagoda, and lives as described. They help to sweep up the platform round the shrine, and, as they live on the offerings of food left for "nats" and other spirits, which is looked upon as disgraceful by the people, they become outcasts. Occasionally a young girl may be seen among them, but, were she as beautiful as a houri, no Burman would take her to wife; and this is the only instance in which these people show any signs of caste.

It is almost impossible to understand the character of the Burmese. A man will not injure a worm; his religion forbids the shedding of blood; he will starve rather than kill a cow or a bullock, though there may be thousands and there be no fodder for them. Those who follow the chase are looked upon as accursed, yet there are always one or two in every remote village who kill game, which the people readily buy; but they care no more for taking the life of a human being, often with the greatest tortures, than we should think of killing a flea.

Fullerton.

THE NEW TOWN FORGING ITS WAY AHEAD.

FULLERTON, Sept. 5.—[Correspondence of the Times.] The new hotel at Fullerton is looming up, and makes a fine showing from a distance, while near by it looks to be immense. It will contain rooms for seventy-five guests and is to cost $40,000. The well is completed and has abundance of water. A windmill and tank have been erected.

The cement sidewalks around block 28, opposite the hotel, on Commonwealth avenue, have been completed, and Mr. Wilshire is to commence the erection of a $7000 two-story brick block today.

The Albrecht Bros. have finished a store building on Commonwealth avenue.

Among others, Mr. Wilshire, Miss Albers and Mr. Gunning are to build residences soon.

Presbyterian and Baptist churches are among the things talked of for Fullerton. Steps are being taken in that direction, and money is being subscribed. The town company will donate lots for that purpose.

Messrs. A. McDermont, W. M. McFadden and G. H. Amirige have been appointed to collect exhibits and represent Fullerton and vicinity at the Los Angeles Fair.

A. F. Pendleton, J. B. Tombes and T. K. McDowell sold their Bartlett pears to the Southern California Packing Company, realizing good prices. Mr. Welsh declared that the North Anaheim pears were the largest and finest of any he had received this year.

Invalids and people who have made their fortunes do not like to live in "Sleepy Hollow," even in this great sanitarium and pleasure resort. They prefer to see life and activity around them. North Anaheim has all the elements necessary to build a prosperous leading town, and Fullerton is forging its way to that honorable position as fast as possible. CUMTUX.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

A Lesson from the Exeter Disaster.

LOS ANGELES, Sept 6.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] It would seem as though even enlightened and progressive people are not always amenable to reason—or will not act up to its highest dictates unless moved to it by some pressing and immediate cause. If the terrible disaster that occurred at the theater at Exeter, England, on the 5th instant, had happened in Los Angeles, would our people and authorities be as sluggish to prevent their happening here as they now are? How would it sound to our ears some morning for the telegraph to announce in the papers, after the manner of the Exeter affair: "Sixty corpses have been removed from the Grand Opera-house?" Or, at Mott Hall, "There is only one narrow exit, and the crush was terrific. Scores were trodden under foot and crushed." Must these things actually occur here before our people will wake up to the necessity of making their happening impossible? At the Patti concert, to which many of our citizens positively refused to go, because of the great danger in case of fire, it took at least a half-hour for the vast audience to get out down a single narrow stairway, even in an orderly manner. Suppose there had been a fire there that night, as there was near by at a concert since in the same hall, but with only a handful of people. Suppose a panic had seized the immense Patti audience! The thought is too frightful to contemplate! Who can tell what would have been the loss of life?

At the Exeter Theater the telegraph says: "About thirty women were burned. The flames overtook the people, who were wedged into an immovable mass, and roasted them to death. Many who were rescued alive died soon after being brought out of the burning building." Although at our Opera-house there are two stairways from the gallery, they are very long and very steep, and a crowd rushing down them in a panic would be sure to fall headlong, pell-mell, over each other. And how many could safely descend a ladder from the south fire-escape in a wild panic? In heaven's name, shall we "wait till the horse is gone before we lock the stable?"

Again, in tall, tinder-box lodging-houses, like the "Makara," the "New Natick," and others, and the Sisters' School, etc., how would the occupants of the third story escape in case of a fire? And in the Thom building, now going up on Main street, near Third, where the brick walls rest on wooden supports or sleepers, what fireman would go near the building if it should catch fire? Public opinion ought to be aroused to insist that the authorities shall appoint fire or building commissioners who will peremptorily stop the erection of any more rattletrap buildings, and who will insist that those already erected shall be made as safe against fire as human foresight can make them. EXETER.

ITS PROGRESS AND PROSPECTS.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] The Executive Committee of the State W. C. T. U. will be ready on Friday, the 9th inst., to receive proposals for the erection of their new headquarters on the corner of Fort and Temple streets. Those having the matter in charge are redoubling their efforts to secure a sufficient amount so that work on the building may begin at once.

Ralph Rogers has recently presented the union with a valuable lot at Garvanzo. The Los Angeles Pomological Society, which holds its first annual fair at Hazard's Pavilion, beginning on the 12th inst., gives the use of the basement, during the week, to the W. C. T. U. The ladies propose to furnish lunch every day. All friends of temperance will find a plenty of work to do at the pavilion during fair week. A. M.

He Was Explicit.

A certain learned California Judge, who always takes particular pains to be clear, and, in fact, prides himself on his ability in that line, recently addressing a witness, said: "My good woman, you must give an answer, in the fewest possible words of which you are capable, to the plain and simple question whether, when you were crossing the street with the baby on your arm, and the omnibus was coming down on the right side, and the cab on the left, and the brougham was trying to pass the omnibus, you saw the plaintiff between the brougham and the cab, or whether and when you saw him at all, and whether or not near the brougham, cab or omnibus, or either, or any two, and which of them respectively—or how was it?"

How It Is Done.

[Texas Siftings.]

A man in the park reading the sign, "Keep Off the Grass," asked a policeman facetiously what he could keep it off with. "With your feet," was the brief reply.

THE SUPERVISORS.

School Bonds—Bridge Plans—Appointments, Etc.

TUESDAY, Sept. 6th.

Board met pursuant to adjournment.

Bids for school bonds were received as follows: From Oakland Bank of Savings, for Vinedale bonds, 4½ per cent. premium; for Bloomfield bonds, ½ per cent. premium; for Alhambra bonds, 3 per cent. premium. From Golden Rule Lodge, I.O.O.F., for Alhambra, 1 per cent. premium; for Sepulveda, par.

The bonds for Vinedale, Bloomfield and Alhambra were awarded to the Oakland Bank of Savings, and bonds for Sepulveda to Golden Rule Lodge.

Plan No. 10, of California Bridge Company, for a bridge at Washburn Crossing, at $5691, was accepted.

The report of the County School Superintendent was referred, for consideration, to the October session.

T. B. Carlisle, T. H. Elliott and I. D. Richmond were appointed viewers of Ocean Shore and Calabasas toll-road.

A warrant for $474.92 was ordered drawn to pay for paving Main street in front of county property.

Omri Bullis resigned as overseer of Compton road district and Louis Page was appointed to fill the vacancy.

James Thompson was appointed Justice of the Peace of Soledad, vice Wickersham failing to qualify.

The petition of the Santa Ana, Orange and Tustin Railroad for permission to use motor engines instead of horse power was granted.

Resolutions were adopted authorizing the issue of school bonds as follows: Crescenta, $3500; Rosedale, $20,000; Santa Monica, $5000.

The Horticultural Commission was directed to discharge all inspectors in districts where the Morse fumigation system is not used.

The Assessor was granted leave of absence from the State for forty-five days.

Adjourned to September 7th, at 10 a.m.

HESPERIA.

The Huge Ditch to Be Turned On October 10th.

Judge R. M. Widney was visited by a TIMES representative yesterday afternoon, in regard to the town of Hesperia and the progress of the great water system there. The Judge was very enthusiastic over the matter. The company have taken the water from Deepwater Creek, about nine and a half miles from the town. The ditch is cut for three and a half miles through and around a mountain of solid granite. This ditch is then plastered with Portland cement and sand the entire length. Steel and iron pipes connect with this ditch, and run for about six and a half miles into the town. He says by this method they will redeem 23,040 acres owned by the company. The vegetation that exists there now is the yucca, bunch-grass and a few other shrubs; but in the whole township of Hesperia there must be 20,000 cords of juniper wood. He says they feel confident that all deciduous fruits will thrive in that rich, silicious, loamy soil; in fact, that section will be the deciduous fruit belt of California. Already the company have sold over $100,000 worth of their town to people who will be ready to step into their homes about October 10th, when the water will be turned in. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad are putting up a new depot immediately in the center of the town. Judge Widney considers the ditch a fine piece of engineering for irrigating purposes.

THE FALL TERM.

McPherron Academy Opens With a Large Attendance.

The fall opening of the McPherron Academy took place yesterday morning at 9 o'clock.

The academy is situated on Grand avenue, between Sixth and Seventh streets. It is a two-story building and contains thirty rooms. The school rooms are large and well ventilated.

Rev. Dr. Weller yesterday conducted the devotional exercises, and delivered a short address on the formation of character.

Rev. Mr. Dinsmore spoke encouraging words, basing his remarks upon his observation of the work accomplished in the academy last year.

Prof. Bransby spoke of the gentlemanly deportment observed on the part of the pupils, and made a plea for the study of Spanish.

C. E. Day and Mr. Northrop expressed special interest in the boys and their work.

Prof. Brackett, of the Latin and English studies, who has just arrived from St. Johnsbury, Vt., was introduced and made a few appropriate remarks.

A cordial welcome was accorded the pupils by the principals, Profs. A. S. and J. M. McPherron.

There were about fifty students present, which augurs well for the attendance for the coming term.

The Courts.

In Judge Gardiner's court yesterday, the arraignment of Sheely and Monroe was set for September 8th, at 9:30 a.m.

E. Edgar Galbreth was admitted to practice as an attorney on presentation of a license from the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

JUSTICE AUSTIN.

The trial of John Stephenson for indecent exposure was continued to September 10th, at 2 p.m.

Charles Getz was fined $15.

Fred Henry was held for trial for assault to murder in $2000 bail.

FACTS ABOUT FULLERTON.

Fullerton is a town site on the San Diego division of the Santa Fé Railroad, twenty-three miles southwest of Los Angeles and three miles north of Anaheim. It is a regular station on that railway and all trains will stop there.

ADVANTAGES.

Fullerton has the most productive country tributary to it of any new town site laid out in Southern California; the country around is noted for its fertile soil and the great abundance of water. The water is derived from the Anaheim ditch, which, as is well known, is the most copious supply in Southern California. Oranges grow to the greatest perfection. The famous Gilman ranch adjoins the townsite of Fullerton. The Gilman place is the "show" walnut grove in the State, visitors being taken there from all parts of the country and shown it as a sample of what can be done in the way of having a perfect walnut grove. Oranges and limes from this section are noted throughout the State as being the finest produced anywhere, and commanding the top market price.

Land in the vicinity of Fullerton is still at a very reasonable figure, as the country is comparatively little known, being at present out of the way of the general lines of travel. With the advent of the Santa Fé Railroad, which is expected within ninety days, property will advance very materially, as it will then first be introduced to many seeking productive land at lower prices than that asked for in and about Pasadena.

OSTRICHES.

The original and largest ostrich farm is only one mile from the town, and is a great source of interest to tourists. One hundred ostriches may be counted.

COMMONWEALTH AVENUE

runs through the center of the town, one hundred feet wide and ten miles long. This will be one of the finest avenues in the Southern country. Lined with umbrageous shade-trees, and the soil is naturally adopted to road-making, packing as hard as asphalt, and never dusty or muddy.

ASPHALTUM.

Immense deposits of oil and asphaltum occur in the neighborhood.

PRICES OF LAND.

Ordinary land without water can be purchased for from $75 to $200 per acre; best land with water at $350 to $700 per acre, and there is but little doubt that all this land will sell readily at $1000 per acre within six months from date.

IMPROVEMENTS IN THE TOWN OF FULLERTON.

A $25,000 hotel is now in course of erection and will be finished within ninety days; two other $10,000 brick buildings are now contracted for and will be finished within the same time. A bank with $100,000 capital is incorporated, and will put up a $15,000 pressed-brick building immediately. Quite a number of houses are now in course of construction and many lots have been sold conditionally upon brick buildings being erected thereon immediately.

A cement sidewalk six feet wide is now being laid upon all the principal streets; water piped in heavy iron pipes and under good pressure through the streets.

PRICES OF LOTS.

Lots range in price from $150 to $700; all streets are graded and there is not an undesirable lot in the entire townsite, as the ground is perfectly level, with a slight fall from the foothills.

SOIL.

The soil is a fine sandy loam which neither gets muddy nor dusty.

CLIMATE.

Fullerton being but eight miles from the ocean, gets the sea breeze much sooner than towns on the other side of the foothill, thus producing a lower temperature in summer, and at the same time the proximity to the ocean causes a more equal and warmer temperature in winter.

Fullerton has the best soil, the best water, the best climate, the largest and most productive territory tributary to it, the best railroad facilities, and there is more cash being expended in it on permanent improvements than on any new town in Southern California.

TO ADVERTISERS.

To insure insertion in tomorrow's TIMES, all new advertisements, save only small classified advertisements ("Wants," etc.), as well as all changes, must be handed in at the counter before 8 o'clock this evening.

SAN DIEGO wants the soldiers' home of course.

A STATISTICIAN states that in one year—1885—857,000,000 tin cans were made. The question is, where do all the tin cans goat to?

KENTUCKY is again paying attention to the principles of the old Whig party. A step from Henry Watterson back to Henry Clay would be progression, not retrogression.

SENATOR STANFORD is reported to have said that Sacramento is destined to be the greatest inland city of California. The Senator, we suspect, is something of a taffy-slinger.

SACRAMENTO has caught onto the idea of open-air concerts, and is to have two or three monthly. Such concerts should be a feature everywhere in the larger towns and cities of California.

THE Sacramento Bee, which has been so tenderly coddling the boom in that section, now claims that it is robust and lively, and that outside capital is coming in to help nurse it. Outside capital is the pap that booms thrive on.

SANTA BARBARA is improving her Agricultural Park buildings, and proposes to make room for the boom at her coming fair. Santa Barbara is little, but she is lively now, and proposes to improve herself in many ways. But, first of all, she should get rid of her disagreeably dusty streets.

GOV. HILL'S Presidential boom seems a glimmering in the far distance, whereas Cleveland's, with the help of the federal officials, is getting stronger. The Kansas City Times recently made a canvass of Kansas Democrats as to their Presidential preferences. The result was: Cleveland 306, Thurman 7, Hill 6.

THE New York Times, with a Mugwumpian whoop, starts out an editorial with the remark that "A. Ward's kangaroo was a somber beast compared with the opposition Democratic editor." It was Mr. Ward's kangaroo, we believe, that was eulogized by its owner as "a amoozin' cuss." There's many a Bourbon iditorial writer that can put that kangaroo to shame and not half try.

LIFE in Sacramento must be charming. Climatically it must be a paradise. Says the Sacramento Bee in one of its recent editorial romances: "Los Angeles and Riverside—that are to so many beguiled people from the inclement East as a dream of the ancient Hesperides—have not such pleasant, agreeable and averagely delightful weather as makes life in Sacramento a pleasure." Yet isn't it strange that so many people who have visited both Los Angeles and Sacramento, and taken in the full charms of the climate of both cities, should prefer that of Los Angeles?

THE Pacific Rural does not relish the idea of State division. It wants to see the State remain as it now is in relation to territory, the great Empire State of the Pacific. Northern California begins to appreciate the fact that these southern counties are great and rich in their rapidly developing possibilities, and what they contribute is no small degree to the wealth and fame of California as a State. We have forced this conclusion upon them by our rapid growth, a growth which even yet they do not fully understand and appreciate, but which yet inclines them to be more just to this section then they have been heretofore.

AT the Santa Barbara railroad jubilee the other day, Rev. Selah Brown made one of the best speeches of the day. He evidently has "a happy knack of putting things." Some of his striking contrasts between the past and the present were startling. Incidentally, in recounting the wonders achieved by the telegraph and the telephone, etc., undreamed of by our fathers, he made this witty point, which, coming from a Methodist preacher, tickled the audience immensely. He said: "Considering the wonderful, almost miraculous feats accomplished by the telephone, we are inclined to excuse the telephone operator, who, on being requested at a banquet to say grace, bowed his head and binding his ear to his plate, reverently exclaimed, 'Hello!'"

Black's Bluster.

A St. Louis dispatch says:

The refusal of a number of Grand Army posts to march under the banner bearing the portrait of President Cleveland, and a patriotic motto displayed at the reunion held at Wheeling, W. Va., last week, has created considerable excitement. As no banner can be thrown across the streets of St. Louis without a permit from the Mayor, it is probable that nothing of this kind will occur here, although it is stated that Pension Commissioner Black has prepared a series of resolutions, which he will present at the reunion. They are bitter denunciations of the course taken by Gens. Tuttle and Fairchild, and amount, if adopted, virtually to an expulsion of them from the order. Gen. Black will present them, or see that they are presented, and if they are not adopted, a large company of Democrats from the East will withdraw.

If Gen. Black attempts to denounce the Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army, in the encampment, he will have a very lively, but a losing fight on his hands. The veteran soldiers of the Union respect the Presidential officer, but they will not be dragooned into indorsing every political act of its incumbent by the Democratic partisan cry that they must do so or incur the reproach of "disrespect," "partisanism," "malice," or some other equally absurd charge that may be brought against them by that large class of hostiles who have been against the cause of the Grand Army from the day Sumter was fired upon to the present hour.

For St. Louis.

Southern California—Los Angeles, particularly—must make no failure in the liberality of her contributions in both money and fruits for the St. Louis exhibit. If she does, loss, disappointment and mortification will ensue, for the idea has been spread broadcast over the East that we are going to St. Louis with a very large-sized horn of plenty overflowing with the delicious and tempting products for which this Pacific sun-land is famous. Any shortage, under these circumstances, would be unfortunate if not positively disastrous. THE TIMES therefore desires to ask, in the name of the whole southern country, that liberal responses be made to the calls of the collectors of money and fruits for the Grand Army exhibit at St. Louis. Bear in mind that it is for the benefit of the country, not of the Grand Army men, that these contributions are asked.

The Washington Star remarks that "Gen. Crook's Galilean manner of warfare against old Colorow is hardly understood by most people. To go to a bloodthirsty savage, unarmed, alone and wholly at his mercy is quite like turning the other cheek to the thug that strikes you in the dark. But Colorow understands it; the cowboys understand it. The old Ute has defied the Indian Office, and gone off his reservation at will. The cowboys and settlers want a fuss. They like to take a crack at the Indians, and they would be glad to have troops stationed in their section to make a market for hay at $25 a ton, potatoes at 4 cents a pound, and other things in proportion, while any one can see that a local market for beef from the neighboring ranges is better than one in Kansas City or Chicago controlled by Phil Armour. Gen. Crook, knowing the weakness of both combatant parties, can give and take arguments with Colorow and get him back to his reservation without firing a gun, and so save many lives. The Indians believe usually in a soldier's word, and they do not trifle with the certainty of a defeat if the army is sent to subdue them. Fair dealing goes a good ways even with the Indian, and honesty and firmness go a great deal further."

WE join the Ohio State Journal and the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, in heartily commending the idea of having President Jeff Davis and Mr. Cleveland meet at Atlanta. These two distinguished Democrats should become personally known to each other, and should mingle their sympathies and tears over the downfall of that purest product of Democracy, the Southern Confederacy, over the "fanatical" public sentiment which prevented Mr. Cleveland from returning the Confederate flags, over the brutal conduct of the Grand Army men and other Union veterans in insisting that the rebellion was wrong, and over the recent frightful losses of the Confederate Democracy in Kentucky. It is meet that those who are one in spirit should come together in the flesh, and perhaps they may be able to devise some plan of restoring their mutually waning fortunes. Let the extreme Southern demand be heeded, that "our" President, as they call Mr. Davis, be brought face to face with the "other" President, to wit, Mr. Cleveland, on a level. Thus only can the irreconcilables be reconciled.

TODAY marks the beginning of the running of regular trains on the new road to Ballona Harbor. There will be two trains each way daily. This, the ocean outlet in Los Angeles county for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad, is destined to grow into a port of prominence and activity. When the Southern California Railway system, now under construction by the "Boston Company", shall have been completed, giving all-rail connections over its own lines through to San Diego and the East, the importance of the new port will become apparent; and, without doubt, work will go on there until the harbor has been converted into a safe one of reasonable capacity.

THE Sacramento Record-Union says: "Mr. Estee was happy in these remarks in his speech at San Francisco on Thursday: 'Climate is a conspicuous element that enters into the value of property, and it is true that in California the man who buys land buys climate, and ought to pay for it. You cannot separate from the land its capabilities for adding to man's comforts.' The Eastern people who object to the scaling of land values by what is 'atop' the soil, should think deeply upon the expression we have quoted, for it is a truth that in California we sell climate." True for you.

IT is said that one man, R. M. Shackelford, will set out 10,000 olive cuttings on the Ysabel ranch near Templeton, and at least 100,000 olive trees are to be set out in that vicinity. Forty acres of olives are to be set out near Oroville. The growing of the useful olive is destined to become an important industry in California. Olive oil and pickled olives are good things to have in the larder.

THE Evening Telegram, the new Democratic daily, makes a guess that Republican and Democratic candidates for Vice-President will be Foraker, of Ohio, and Gray, of Indiana, respectively. They are both Governors of their States. They would do.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE EDDY CONCERT.—Mr. Clarence Eddy, the world-renowned organ virtuoso of Chicago, gave his first recital last night, at the First Baptist Church. The church was almost entirely filled with prominent musicians. The programme was excellent in its selections, there being just enough music of a lighter class to temper the classic solidity of the rest.

Mr. Eddy is such a master of the organ, in all its possibilities, that to praise is unnecessary, to criticize impertinent. His playing of the "Spring Song"—in which one "could hear the grass grow"—and of "Gavotte"—full of French grace and spirit—pleased the audience the best, and both were repeated to enthusiastic encores.

Miss Winston's voice was never sweeter or used with more "full-throated ease." The pleading and the agony of the "Pieta Signore" is, perhaps, too heavy for her, but in the ballad by Rubenstein and the "Sing, Smile, Slumber," the voice and song were perfectly suited, and touched both musical sense and sensitive heart.

H. E. Hamilton, a newly-come violinist, doubtless has merit, but made an unfortunate selection in a clattering variation on "Annie Laurie," which spoiled the melody and gave nothing in exchange. Mr. Hamilton showed taste, skill and feeling, however, in his response to the encore.

BRIEFS.

NEVADA'S BOOM.

How Mrs. Langtry Helped It—Artesian Water in Demand.

CARSON (Nev.), Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] Since the striking of a heavy flow of water on the sage-brush flat near North Carson mine, a great impetus has been given to well-boring. All available land about the city has been taken up. One firm is now engaged on what is known as the Langtry well, near the North Carson mine, where she purchased forty acres of land and ordered an artesian well sunk on it. Her orders were to sink until they struck water, and send the bill for each 100 feet. The boring of artesian wells is going on all over the State, and land is being rapidly taken up. During the last few weeks the clerks in the State land office have been worked night and day.

LAND FOR SETTLERS.

Several Thousand Acres to Be Thrown Open in a Few Days.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] All the indemnity land in this district, claimed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, will be restored to the public domain, and opened to entry on October 8th. The whole amount restored is several thousand acres, and is situated principally in Monterey, San Luis Obispo and San Benito counties. Some of the land is very valuable. It lies not less than twenty and not more than thirty miles from the railroad.

The land grants gave the Southern Pacific Railroad Company all the odd numbered sections within a distance of twenty miles on both sides of the railroad. To make up for portions of land that had previously been entered on by settlers, the company was allowed to select an equivalent amount from the belt of land lying between twenty and thirty miles from the road. This strip of land is known as the "indemnity belt," and has hitherto been withheld from settlement. The sections of indemnity land chosen by the railroad company and approved by the General Land Office, are known as "approved selections." The San Francisco Land Office has received from the General Land Office at Washington a communication regarding these indemnity lands giving full instructions as to entry.

YOUNG MEN'S INSTITUTE.

The Grand Council in Session at Sacramento.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] The Grand Council of the Young Men's Institute met today. Delegate Leak offered a resolution tendering sympathy to Gov. Bartlett in his affliction. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

This afternoon officers were elected as follows: Grand President, J. J McDade; First Vice-president, John J. Stephens, Santa Barbara; Second Vice-president, J. B. Carr, Nevada City; Recording Secretary, J. B. McIntyre, San Francisco; Corresponding Secretary, Joseph J. Iwohig, San Francisco; Treasurer, John Lynch, Oakland; Marshal, Thomas H. Brady, San Francisco; Inside Sentinel, T. H. McGovern, San Luis Obispo; Outside Sentinel, G. E. Princevalle, Gilroy; Board of Directors, F. J. Murasky, San Francisco; Walter Goggin, Alameda; J. J. O'Connor, Sacramento; M. Haley, San Francisco; C. Hogan, San Jose; R. C. Connims, San Jose; R. O'Connor, San Francisco; M. Slatterly, Napa; N. C. Carey, Oakland; F. Kane, Dixon; D. W. Erwin, South San Francisco.

This evening a grand promenade concert and ball was given in honor of the Grand Council.

CHEAPER FARES.

How Passenger Rates Are Reduced in Southern California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] W. A. Bissell, of the Atlantic and Pacific, received copies of the new passenger tariff for the California Central Railroad yesterday. There is a material reduction in rates to and from the different points in Southern California. Between San Bernardino and Los Angeles the fare will be $1.75, from San Bernardino to Pasadena $1.55, to Raymond $1.55, to Garvanzo $1.65, to North Garvanzo 50 cents, to Duarte $1.20, and to Santa Anita $1.35. The new rate of $1.75 applies between Los Angeles and Colton, and the fare between Los Angeles and Colton has been reduced to $1.75. This gives a new rate of $22.75, first-class, between San Diego and San Francisco, and $19.75 emigrant.

A PLUCKY DRUMMER.

How He Battled With Bandits and Saved His Money.

BENSON (Ariz.), Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] A. L. Tiebenthal, a commercial traveler for Friedlander & Co., of San Francisco, while on his way from Tombstone to Ft. Huachuca, was attacked by three Mexican bandits, who ordered him to throw up his hands. Tiebenthal had considerable funds in his possession belonging to his firm and did not care to lose this money. Instead of throwing up his hands, he threw down his six-shooter and opened fire. Twelve shots were exchanged. Tiebenthal escaped unhurt, but succeeded in wounding one of the Mexicans and killing one of their horses. The Mexicans started for Sonora. The Sheriff of Cochise county and a posse left Tombstone in hot pursuit.

THE STATE UNIVERSITY.

Meeting of the Board of Regents—Several Matters Considered.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—At a meeting of the Board of Regents of the University of California today, President Holden submitted the following roster for Lick observatory appointments, to date from the day the university and observatory are united: E. S. Holden, director, and James Lick, professor in the University of California; S. W. Burnham, A.M., J. M. Shavely, A.B., J. E. Keeler, A.B., and E. E. Bernard, A. B., astronomers; Charles B. Hill, secretary. The recommendations were referred to a committee.

B. O. Duncan, of Charleston, S. C., was recommended for instructor in French.

The board decided to subdivide the Tompkins tract in Oakland and offer the lots for sale in October.

Abandoned at Sea.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The ship Triumphant, bound from Liverpool to New York, was abandoned on August 28th in lat. 42.35 and long. 54.35. The crew were saved. She was built in 1874 at Quincy Point, Mass., and her owners are Thayer & Lincoln. She was surveyed in this city in October, 1876. The Triumphant last left this port for Liverpool direct on January 18th, laden with wheat.

A Murderous Chief of Police.

PORTLAND, Sept. 6.—An Astoria special says: This morning Chief of Police Twombley met Road Supervisor Walker. There had been trouble between the parties on the night before. The quarrel was renewed and a scuffle ensued, when Twombley struck Walker over the head with a pistol and then shot him. The ball took effect in the face, shattering the left jaw badly, passing through the tongue and embedding itself in the muscles on the right side of the neck near the carotid artery. The wound is considered very dangerous.

Rain Up North.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Quite a heavy rain fell this morning. It is said to be the heaviest for several years at this season. It is still cloudy, and likely to rain again.

HEALDSBURG, Sept. 6.—Fifty-two hundredths of an inch of rain fell during today. It is now clear. No material harm was done.

Will Have a Factory.

SANTA CRUZ, Sept. 6.—A citizens' meeting was held at the courthouse this evening to discuss the question of establishing a boot and shoe factory in this city. The proposition was favored by prominent local capitalists. Business men have promised substantial aid. The company will be incorporated with $50,000 capital. A committee was appointed to secure subscriptions.

Fire at Forest Hill.

FORREST HILL, Sept. 6.—Fire broke out at 11:45 last night, and consumed half the business portion of the city. The total insurance is $22,000.

SAN FRANCISCO.

Looseness in the Divorce Mill—Death of a Railroad Man—Morrow's Answer—Notes from the Bay.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] An examination of the records of the courts of this city for some twenty-five years proves that in something like 1000 cases where a court has granted a divorce no decree has been signed by the Judge, and no judgment entered. The persons interested doubtless believed that all that was necessary was for the court to announce orally from the bench, "Divorce granted on the grounds," etc., and the matrimonial bonds were dissolved in law. This is preliminary, and the law requires a decree to be signed by the Judge granting the divorce, and that this decree be entered upon the docket before the proceedings are complete. In how many of the 1000 incomplete records referred to the parties have again married who were not legally entitled to do so, is a question almost impossible of solution, but there are doubtless very many such cases. The title to a valuable piece of property in this city is now in question because of the incompleteness of divorce proceedings instituted many years ago.

WHEAT FOR AUCTION.

Wheat circles were somewhat excited today by an advertisement of 4000 tons of No. 1 California wheat, to be sold at public auction tomorrow afternoon, without reserve, to the highest bidder. This wheat comprises a lot on which one of the local financial institutions has loaned money.

RACES POSTPONED.

The races that were to have taken place today at Bay District, have been postponed because of the rain. Tomorrow the running events that were set on the regular programme for today will be run off, thereby changing the programme completely.

THE NEW CITY HALL.

At a meeting of the New City Hall Commissioners today it was resolved to push forward the work of completion at once, there being $145,000 of this year's appropriation still remaining, after the award of the contract to finish the hall of records for $100,000.

DISCUSSING THE WEATHER.

The rooms of the Viticultural Commission were crowded today with vineyardists discussing the changes made possible by the rain. It seems to be the opinion that if the rain is of short duration and followed by a succession of warm, sunny days, no damage will be done, but if the sky is overcast and the weather remains wet long, zinfandel and other grapes will begin to rot.

MORROW FILES HIS ANSWER.

After a delay of seventy-seven days, Robert F. Morrow has filed an answer to the complaint of Morris W. Davis, in the action filed by the latter to recover $1000, the balance alleged to be due for services rendered to him in watching jury-fixing matters. In the answer defendant denies that plaintiff ever performed any labor at his request and that such services were worth $1300, or that he owes him $1000 or any other sum.

DEATH OF A RAILROAD MAN.

Charles Macabe, general passenger agent of the Chicago and Alton road for this coast, died here this morning of consumption.

Garrett's Successor.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 6.—The American this morning says: Samuel Spencer has been selected by the syndicate to succeed President Garrett, of the Baltimore and Ohio road. Spencer is the present first vice-president of the road. Not only did his ability as a manager and his work in connection with the road commend him, but when he conducted negotiations which ended in the contract, the syndicate became so thoroughly impressed with his qualifications that it took only a short time to agree upon him as Garrett's successor. The choice of Spencer is with Garrett's full concurrence and approval.

Mrs. Cleveland Declines.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—A letter has been received by the Mayor and Board of Aldermen from Mrs. Cleveland, in which she declines the invitation to make a presentation of flags to the Fire Department. She bases her declination upon her unwillingness to assume that she, as the wife of the President, has a right to participate so prominently in a public ceremony in which the President took no part.

The Collector Skipped.

VICTORIA (B. C.), Sept. 6.—Millard F. Dyer, formerly engaged in business in Los Angeles, with his wife, has lately been employed as reporter and collector for the Colonist. A week ago Saturday he secured several hundred dollars and left for the East over the Canadian Pacific.

Public School Building Burned.

PORTLAND (Or.), Sept. 6.—This afternoon the Harrison-street public school's new building which cost $300,000 was discovered to be on fire. Before the fire was extinguished, the whole of the roof and upper story was destroyed. The loss is estimated at $15,000; insured for about $17,000.

Nebraska's Grand Army Reunion.

OMAHA (Neb.), Sept. 6.—Fifteen thousand veterans are occupying tents at the G.A.R. reunion. Speeches were made today by Chief Fairchild, Senator Manderson and Gov. Thayer. A number of pictures of President Cleveland are displayed and cause considerable felling among the partisans.

The Anarchists' Appeal.

OTTAWA (Ill.), Sept. 6.—The Supreme Court met at 2 p.m. today. No announcement in the Anarchist case was made, nor will there be until the judges have conferred upon opinions. Adjourned till 9 a.m.

Cardinal Gibbons' House Robbed.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 6.—The residence of Cardinal Gibbons was robbed on Sunday of two valuable rings, one of which was a present from Pope Leo. No clew to the thief has been obtained.

German Catholics.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—The first German Catholic Convention, for which the Catholic Central Union has been preparing for three days, met tonight. There were over 5,000 people present.

The Doctors' Congress in Session—A Bad Outlook for the Creditors of Ives & Co. and Other Collapsed Concerns—The Utes All Right.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] The World will publish tomorrow over the signature of Ballard Smith, the result of the interview with President Cleveland, held at Oak View last week, regarding civil service matters. The President said:

"If disappointment arising from my inability to name for office all those recommended by near personal and political friends were a sufficient cause for alienation, those who wish me well would be few today."

In subsequent conversation the President said that the composition of the Pacific Railway Commission had been a matter of unusual thought and consideration with him, and in view of the valuable information obtained, he was glad that the question decided by Justice Field against the commission, had not been raised earlier. Their dispatch recommending the employment of additional counsel had been answered immediately, and full power given them. Why such counsel had not been employed, he had not been informed, but he understood that a reasonable adjournment to examine into the law had been expended.

COLLAPSED CONCERNS.

Ives' Creditors Not Likely to Get Much of a Percentage.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] W. N. Cromwell, assignee of Henry S. Ives & Co., has made his report to the Superior Court. The liabilities are placed at $17,666,170, nominal assets at $26,664,200, and actual assets at $11,122,000. The secured creditors on loan account amount to $5,402,200; the secured creditors on bills payable are $1,673,800. The liabilities on stocks loaned amounted to $1,010,000. The amount to unsecured creditors is $9,580,100. The assignee says that the property is composed almost entirely of stocks, bonds and bills receivable of various corporations, and that the value of the securities is largely depressed because of uncertainty as to where the control of companies will finally lodge. This accounts for the differences in the schedule between the nominal and actual values. It is claimed by those who have studied Cromwell's figures that the actual assets, including only the firm's equities in hypothecated securities, are only about $400,000.

BAD FOR HARPER'S CREDITORS.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 6.—From the report of the trustees of E. L. Harper & Co., it appears that the firm held no real estate, and that the face value of the assets, consisting of stocks, bonds, notes, cash, etc., was $136,000, while the appraised value was $8600. The assets were book accounts of face value of $1,171,000, appraised at $94,100, making the total appraised value $103,200. The total direct liabilities are $1,403,750, and the indirect liabilities as indorsers, $1,692,000. Among the debts is one of $359,000 from E. L. Harper, and it appears that his firm indorsed for Harper and other firms. The firm of E. L. Harper & Co. was a non-commission firm. This showing would give the creditors about 4 per cent. on their claims.

WHEELER & CO.'S FAILURE.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 6.—The developments today in the E. S. Wheeler & Co. case are very meagre. The liabilities are estimated at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. The local banks hold Wheeler's paper for the following amounts: Mechanics National, $40,000; City Bank, $70,000; Yale National, $27,000, and First National, $170,000. Wheeler & Co., with a capital of $300,000, were rated B, and for several years have done a yearly business of from one to five million dollars.

THE BLACKFEET.

Trouble Among Indians in the Northwest Territory.

BUTTE (Mont.), Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] A special to the Miner from Colgary, N. W. T., says: Trouble is feared among the Blackfeet Indians. About ten days ago an Indian was shot at by a white soldier for some trifling cause and seriously hurt. His tribe were much incensed, and at one time it was thought that they would attack the assailant. After a few days the wounded Indian died and the news was sent through all the tribes. Simultaneously another Indian, named Deer Foot, escaped from jail here and reached the reservation. The police demanded his return, but the young braves refused to divulge his hiding place. Consequently, tomorrow two large detachments of mounted police will proceed to the reservation from here and Ft. McLeod and effect Deer Foot's capture. Another force has been detached from Regina as a reserve. With the present excited state of feeling among the Indians serious trouble is feared. The Blackfeet are the most powerful tribe in the northwest.

THE DOCTORS' CONGRESS.

Californians Present—The Various Sections at Work.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] The following doctors from California are in attendance on the congress of doctors now in session here: M. G. Clark, Albert L. Gihon, F. H. Terrill and John D. Hartley, of San Francisco; John C. McCoy, of Los Angeles; William N. Moore, of Covelo, and Thomas H. Pinkerton, of San Diego.

The various sections were called to order by their presidents as follows: General surgery, William L. Briggs, Nashville, Tenn.; ophthalmology, J. J. Chisholm, Baltimore; laryngology, M. H. Dailey, Pittsburgh; dermatology and syphilography, A. R. Robinson, New York; medical climatology and demography, Medical Director Albert L. Gibson, of the navy; psycological medicine and nervous diseases, J. B. Andrews, Buffalo; international hygiene, Joseph Jones, New Orleans; obstetrics, Elaskie Miller, Chicago; dental and aural surgery, Jonathan Toft, Cincinnati; physiology, John R. Calender, Nashville, Tenn.

In all of the sections interesting papers were submitted and discussed.

President Davis called the Congress to order today and introduced Austin Flint, LL.D., of New York, who proceeded to read his paper on "Fever, Its Causes, Mechanism and Rational Treatment," after which President Davis announced that the amount of work in the various sections was such that it was found desirable that they should hold sessions for two hours in the morning and three hours in the afternoon. For this reason it would probably be more satisfactory if the address of Prof. Sommola, assigned for today, be postposed until tomorrow. The session adjourned until tomorrow.

The Presiddent and Mrs. Cleveland recieved members of the congress with their wives at the White House this evening. From the White House the visitors went to the Corcoran art gallery which was opened and illuminated in their honor.

THE UTES.

They Are On the Reservation and Everything is Quiet.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] The following telegram was received at the War Department: "Gen. Crook telegraphs from Rawlins, Wyo., on the 3d inst., acknowledging the receipt of a telegram from these headquarters which conveyed to him the instructions of the Acting Secretary of War regarding the removal of unauthorized persons on the Uintah and Ouray reservations, etc. He reports that the necessary action has been taken. The Utes are all on the reservation and everything is quiet for the present.

A SENSATION.

A New Hampshire Legislator Charges Attempted Bribery.

CONCORD (N. H.), Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] In the Senate this afternoon Senator Sawyer, rising to a question of privilege, stated that Kirk D. Pierce had, on Wednesday last, offered him a bribe of $5000 to make a speech in favor of the pending Boston and Maine Railroad Bill, and that he had spurned the offer. A committee of investigation was appointed. Pierce declares the charge untrue.

An Asylum Shattered.

TOLEDO (O.), Sept. 6.—Word has just been received from the Northwestern Insane Asylum, four miles from the city, that a tornado struck that place, seriously injuring three buildings and demolishing one or two. Telephone lines are prostrated, and there is no direct communication. The buildings cost about half a million dollars.

WASHINGTON.

The Case of an American Murdered in Mexico Investigated—A Talk on Tariff—Pension Reports.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] Information is received at the Department of State from Mexico to the effect that the United States representative at Piedras Negras has made a thorough investigation of the recent murder of J. H. Duval, an American citizen at Santa Rosa. It is stated that the Mexican authorities arrested seven men implicated in the murder, and sentenced all to ten years' imprisonment. Pending a decision upon an appeal from the sentence, the prisoners have been sent to Monte Clara.

PATENT COMMISSIONER'S REPORT.

The Commissioner of Patents in his annual report says: "The number of applications for patents of all kinds received during the year was 40,678. Referring to the defalcation of Financial Clerk Bacon, deceased, the Commissioner says the shortage was $310,091, against which were found miscellaneous memoranda, bills, etc., amounting to $15,011. From the aggregate due bills $8668 had been collected. Number of patents granted during the year, including reissues and designs, 21,732; number of trade marks registered, 1101; number of labels registered, 384; number of patents expired, 12,789; receipts of the office aggregate $1,150,046; the expenditures were $981,644; surplus, $160,844."

NOTES.

Secretary Bayard was suddenly summoned to Philadelphia this morning to attend the funeral of an intimate friend.

The Department of State has received a copy of the recent contract made for the establishment of telegraphic communication between Venzuela and the United States.

Patents have been granted to Benjamin F. Parks, of Fresno, for combined plows; John G. Chapman, Downey, for automatic stop for windmills.

A TARIFF CONFERENCE.

The Republican tomorrow will say: "The President, ex-Speaker Randall and Speaker Carlisle had a conference at Oak View this afternoon. The discussion related principall to the Tariff Bill, which has practically received the indorsement of the Administration, an outline of which measure contemplates the abolition of the tobacco and fruit-brandy tax, a reduction of custom duties and large additions to the free list. This measure has been referred to Secretary Fairchild. No conclusion was reached, but the matter was left for another conference to be held soon."

Ives's Debts and Assets.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Schedules in the assignment of Henry S. Ives & Co. have been filed. They show liabilities of $17,666,000. The nominal assets are $26,664,000. Their equity amounts to $400,000.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Lots to Be Bought and Houses Built—Other Business.

The City Board of Education met in regular session last evening, with all members present except Mr. Earl.

Minutes of the last two meetings were read and approved.

The Committee on Buildings reported in favor of buying lots on Tenth street and Vernon avenue.

The secretary was instructed to ask permission of the Board of Supervisors to buy and sell property.

The following report by the Committee on Buildings and Sites was read and adopted:

"Your committee have examined into the Ninth-street schoolhouse and site, and find that lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 of block G, the property of Mrs. Fitzgerald, may be purchased for the sum of $4800, being $1300 less than the regular price. We therefore recommend that as many of these lots be immediately purchased as the board may desire."

"We also recommend that the following buildings be erected at once: The high school, the Ninth-street, the Pearl-street, the Diamond-street, the Brooklyn Heights, and the Montgomery-street building."

Miss Jessie Gibson's resignation as a teacher was handed in and accepted.

A motion was made and

NEWS FROM ABROAD.

Exeter's Horror Worse Than at First Reported.

Whole Families Found to Have Perished Together.

The Fatal Stairway One Mass of Charred Human Remains.

How Free Speech is Stifled in Kalakaua's Domains—Eight Men Killed by the Bursting of a Big Cannon—Those Alleged Chinese Concessions.

By Telegraph to The Times.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The victims by the burning of the Theater Royal, at Exeter, were mostly working people. As soon as the flames were put out a large force began searching for bodies. The stairway leading to the gallery was literary packed with bodies, while at the head of the stairs there were scores of others piled one on top of another. The unfortunate victims had rushed to the door when the alarm was given, but found the stairway blocked and ESCAPE CUT OFF.

In a short time the flames had reached them and they suffered a horrible death. There were pitiful scenes in the vicinity of the burned theater this morning, as the friends and relations of the supposed victims waited the recovery of bodies. In many cases fathers and mothers both perished, and numerous children are thus left without means of support. Several bodies were burned so only a small cinder remained. The number of persons severely injured is sixty. It is feared the number of deaths will reach 140.

PRESS COMMENTS.

The Standard says: "The sad peculiarity as between the Exeter theater fire and previous disasters, suggests the culpable disregard of the teachings of experience."

The News says: "One effect of this awful disaster will be a general law governing the construction and management of public places throughout the Kingdom. After this accident and that of the Opera Comique, in Paris, we ought surely to require no more warning."

THE NUMBER OF VICTIMS UNKNOWN.

An evening paper has ascertained that there were 200 persons occupying seats in the gallery, and of these 100 lost their lives. It is very probable that the total number of deaths will never be ascertained, owing to the fact that many bodies were completely calcined. Two stalls of the stables belonging to the hotel adjoining are filled with remains that it is impossible to identify. Most of the killed were adults, and chiefly men. But few children perished.

WHOLE FAMILIES PERISHING TOGETHER.

More bodies have been taken from the ruins. Charred remains of twenty persons were discovered in one heap. A mother, father and child were found clasped in one embrace. In nearly every case the clothing has been torn off the victims. From many of the bodies limbs were missing, and the remains showed evidence that they had been wrenched off. Several whole families, numbering from two to five persons, lost their lives.

THE FATAL STAIRWAY.

The construction of the gallery stair-case accounts for the great loss of life. Half way down the flight there was a sharp angle. The first persons who left the gallery got past safely, but several of those who followed were thrown down and jammed into the angle, and were unable to extricate themselves, owing to the pressure from behind. The stair-case at this place was effectually blocked and there was no other way of escape.

HOW THE FIRE CAUGHT.

A scene-shifter says that the fire started among some gauze which became ignited. The flames spread to the scenes, of which the stage was unusually full owing to the preparations for the production of a pantomime. The audience numbered 800 persons.

GOVERNMENT ACTION.

In the House of Commons today, Mr. Matthews, Home Secretary, said that the calamity at Exeter showed the necessity of legislation in the matter, and the Government intended to deal with the subject.

THE INQUEST.

The inquest over the victims was begun to-day. It was impossible to identify many of the bodies. The jury simply viewed the remains.

A public funeral will be held tomorrow.

KALAKAUA'S KINGDOM.

Preparing for Elections—Business Stagnant—Free Speech Perilous.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] Newspapers from China received by the steamer Parthia, of the Canadian Pacific line, to Victoria, B. C., make numerous references to the concessions recently granted to Count Mitkiwiez, and the Chinese-American syndicate which he represents. The Hong Kong Mail, of August 8th, says:

"We have very good authority for stating that the negotiations are practically closed, as far as the Chinese government is concerned, and the signing of the papers in Washington is only a formality. The new Imperial Amalgamated Bank is to be started, unless something very unexpected happens, within the next six months. The capital will not, at all events at first, be so large as has been rumored, but will be from 25,000,000 to 50,000,000 of taels. But there is ample power given under the statutes to increase the amount to whatever figure may be rendered necessary by the progress of events. The various telegraph lines in China will be immediately amalgamated under one administration—that of the bank—and the new telephone system will be very fully developed. The first railway to be undertaken will be from Peking to Canton, as stated some weeks ago, with a branch line from the capital to Tientsin. The concessions granted to the syndicate extend over fifty years."

COLD WATER ON THE SCHEME.

The North China Daily News of August 1st seems to be inclined to throw cold water on the schemes. Says this journal:

"It would appear that at least the Chinese officials have some misgivings about the consequences of their acts, and the contract of the provisional agreement as it now stands, does not textually exclude competition, and does not in precise terms convey absolute monopolies. Loopholes have been left for extrication and safety."

THE PLAN DENOUNCED.

Under the editorial heading, "Capture of China," the Chinese Times denounces the policy of granting such valuable franchises to foreigners. It says:

"The unfolding of this remarkable compact will make life in China interesting for the next two years. Whether Chou Sheng or Tna have conspired to sell their country with the connivance of their superiors, as some of them did the China merchants' steamers three years ago, or whether they have sold the too-confiding Philadelphians, or have placed their own heads, figuratively speaking, on the block, are all questions which may be expected to work themselves out by degrees, affording in the process pabulum for readers of newspapers and food for reflection to those who moralize on national evolution. There are two ways of looking at the transaction. In one aspect it is a liberal offering to certain Chinese and enough to turn their heads, while in another it is a smart stroke of finance on the part of an American syndicate, quite independently of the valuable concessions which it has purchased.

NOTES FROM ABROAD.

Terrific Explosion of a Big Gun—Eight Men Killed.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—[By Cable and the Associated Press.] While a big gun was being cast in Sheffield today the gun exploded, killing four men on the spot and injuring many others. The buildings of the establishment were more or less shattered.

A later dispatch from Sheffield says: The explosion was in Vickers' foundry and killed five men outright, and three others have since died in the hospital.

THE UNTERRIFIED LEAGUE.

DUBLIN, Sept. 6.—Messrs. Gov. Bartlett in a Dying Condition.

His Life Liable to Ebb Away at Any Moment.

What San Francisco Physicians Say of His Case.

Latest Bulletins from the Doctors in Attendance—The Dying Governor Presses the Hands of Those About Him, But Can No Longer Speak.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] Gov. Bartlett has been much worse today, and the latest reports show that he is gradually sinking, and it is believed that he cannot live twelve hours longer. Dr. Buckel issued the following bulletin at 8 o'clock this evening:

"There is no change for the better in the Governor's condition. He sleeps quietly most of the time, but arouses occasionally and answers when spoken to. He frequently calls for water, but chokes when attempting to swallow. Temperature, 101.05; pulse, 108; respiration, 36."

ANOTHER BULLETIN.

The following is the latest official bulletin issued by Gov. Bartlett's physicians:

"There is no change for the better in the Governor's condition. He still sleeps most of the time, but rouses occasionally. At 9:15 he saw his brother and sister, and held out his hand to them, but did not say anything to them. He does not seem to be suffering any pain. Pulse, 96; temperature, 100.6; repiration, 36."

WHAT PHYSICIANS SAID.

A number of prominent physicians, including Drs. Murray, Black and McNutt, were intervied this morning in regard to their opinion of Governor Bartlett's condition. All said the bulletins which have been issued are vague, uncertain and unintelligible, and nothing could be learned from them. They believed he was suffering from organic disease, and his life could be prolonged but a short time.

MAY NOT LIVE AN HOUR.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Morning.—Private advices, not official, state that Gov. Bartlett may not live an hour longer.

THE LATEST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7—Morning.—Gov. Bartlett is still restless and delirious. The stupor is gradually growing worse, and the patient has to be continually aroused. The fever has partially left him. He is unable to drink water without coughing. Temperature, 99.80; pulse, 97; respiration, 36. No more definite information can be learned.

Greenbacks Burned Up.

PORTLAND (Or.), Sept. 6.—A special from Albany, Or., states that the fine farm residence of Washington Crabtree near the town of Mehima, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday. Over $600 in greenbacks was consumed. Strenuous efforts were made to save the money from the flames, but proved fruitless. There was only $300 insurance.

Hop House Burned.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6.—The hop house of Lovedel Bros., five miles above Sacramento, was destroyed by fire this morning. Loss, $30,000; insured for $11,000. It is not known how the fire started, but it is believed the Chinese hop pickers set fire to the building accidentally.

Vetoed.

OAKLAND, Sept. 6.—Mayor Davis last night vetoed the ordinance passed a week ago reducing the license for the sale of liquor from $100 to $50.

The Weather.

LOS ANGELES SIGNAL OFFICE, Sept. 6.—At 4:07 a.m. today the thermometer registered 55; at 12:07 p.m., 75; at 7:07 p.m., 64. Barometer for corresponding periods, 29.94, 29.94, 29.88. Maximum temperature, 78; minimum temperature, 52. Weather, fair.

INDICATIONS.

CATARRH!

THROAT DISEASES, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA,

CONSUMPTION,

Together with diseases of the

EYE, EAR AND HEART,

Successfully treated by

M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D.,
M. C. P. S. O.,
No. 275 North Main Street.

A few doors south of the new postoffice, Los Angeles, Cal.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

This has been demonstrated in thousands of cases treated by

DR. WILLIAMS,

With his new system of Medicated Inhalations combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract a fresh cold; indeed, he declares that he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another, and yet he is always exceedingly careful; it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some oreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by-and-by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

Inhalations are applicable in all diseases of the respiratory organs, but must be prepared for each individual case as they severally require.

By the employment of proper inhalation in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharynx and nasal passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. By these means every case can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success.

The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination, but if impossible to do so can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address,

AN IDEAL CITY.

Model Homes to Those Only Who Will Build.

I am the owner of five acres of land near this city, all set to trees, that I propose to divide into sixteen lots and sell only to such persons as will build homes.

THE LOCATION IS ONE OF THE CHOICEST

And most desirable in all Southern California. Convenient for the business men, on roads already in operation. The view and surroundings are not excelled anywhere. The best and purest of water in abundance at all seasons. High, healthy and nearly free from fogs. Cool in summer. NATURAL DRAINAGE! MODEL SCHOOL! Good society! Everything that goes toward making a model home. A model system of sewerage, a central barn and other features will add much to the health, comfort and elegance. No proposition will be entertained, other than from those who will build.

TERMS----PRICES LOW AND TIME TO SUIT THE PURCHASER.

Object is to make a model place. For particulars call on me at Room 57, Baker Block, any day from 9 to 12 o'clock.

SANTA ANA.

THE NEW HOTEL BRUNSWICK—A 75-ROOM HOUSE.

A Capacious and Creditable Modern Hotel, Elegantly Finished and Furnished—Description of the Building—An Animated Boom.

Santa Ana and the country round about is forging ahead. Land subdivision is the order of the day, and prices are going up and up. Buildings likewise. Among the latter, the most notable is the new Hotel Brunswick, now nearing completion. It will be a house highly creditable to the builders and to Santa Ana—one of the best public houses, indeed, in the southern country. The house is located on the corner of Fourth and Sycamore streets, in the central portion of the town. Its dimensions are 90x140 feet, standing on a lot 100x150 feet, besides which ground there are 50x50 feet to be used for an L. The building is three stories high, built of brick made at Santa Ana, the joints penciled in blue, which is the latest fad. It has an Otis elevator from top to bottom. The foundation walls are four feet thick, the basement walls two feet, the first-story walls sixteen inches, and the second and third-story walls twelve inches thick.

The house is furnished throughout in natural woods—California redwood and cedar—done in shellac. It is provided with a complete electric system of return call and fire-alarm bells, with a thorough system of sanitary plumbing; also with hot and cold water throughout.

In the lower story the windows have plate glass 6x7 feet, and the office has cathedral glass in doors and transoms.

On the roof are two tanks for water, holding 8000 gallons each; and there are further provisions for protection against fire in the shape of three stand-pipes, four fire-escapes, hose, etc.

The number of rooms in the house is sixty-seven sleeping-rooms and ten parlors or general rooms. The main parlors are each 22x24 feet in size, with sliding doors, and when thrown together make a fine room 24x48 feet in size. The bridal chamber is a beautiful room, elegantly furnished.

The dining-room is 40x60 feet, well lighted on three sides. From the upper windows a sweeping view is had.

The furniture is of ash, antique oak and mahogany; it is modern, stylish and of exceptionally good quality. The beds were made to-order for the house.

The rooms are all finished in suites, with connecting bathrooms, and are carpeted with Moquette and body Brussels carpets throughout, as are also the halls and stairways.

The total cost of the building will reach $60,000 or $65,000, and the cost of furnishing will be $20,000 or more. The owners are the Santa Ana Hotel and Land Company. The supervising architect is E. A. Warner, late from Iowa. The plans were originally drawn by T. H. Goff, now of San Bernardino, but before adoption, were considerably modified by Mr. Warner and the owners. The house was furnished by W. M. Ward, who will run it on a five-years' lease. The prices will be $3 per day and upward. Mr. Ward was at one time connected with the Nadeau in a responsible capacity, and is an experienced Boniface.

The Brunswick will be partially open for guests this week, but the regular opening and final "blow-out" will not take place till about the middle of the month.

A "dandy" coach will carry passengers from the depot to the house.

The construction of this fine new hotel, which was sorely needed, will prove of inestimable value to Santa Ana, which is rapidly looming into prominence as one of the big towns of Southern California.

The boom is at the front and center, bigger'n a Texas steer, and the country is going right ahead with Brabdingnagian strides.

Curious Proceedings.

The warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Quinby for cruelty to her cattle was quietly squelched yesterday, without the knowledge or consent of Humane Officer Wright, who swore out the complaint and stood ready to prove his charges. There was no taking of testimony, nor anything else, and there is some interest to know how the thing was done.

WYNETKA!

NO IRRIGATION! -:- NO FROST!

The most charming spot on the line of the Foothill Railroad, running from Los Angeles to Santa Monica and Ballona Harbor, and nine miles west of Los Angeles.

THE SUNSET BOULEVARD, 100 feet wide, seven miles of which is already nearly finished, runs through this beautiful tract, and will be extended to Santa Monica.

The scenery at and around Wynetka is delightful, commanding, as it does, a fine view of Los Angeles and the sea.

Wynetka is largely owned and controlled by the railroad company, and one of the finest depot buildings on the line, with all necessary sidings, will soon be built at this point.

Wynetka is laid out into business, residence and villa lots, with wide streets and several parks.

This tract will be put upon the market positively September 12th.

Our team will commence on Thursday, September 1st., to make daily trips to Wynetka, leaving our office at 9 a.m. each day except Sundays.

Call and enjoy a free ride to this charming subdivision and invest your money in property that is rapidly appreciating in value.

PURE WATER will be piped to every lot in this tract at once.

BUSINESS.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES,
LOS ANGELES, Tuesday, Sept. 6.

There were no changes in quotations at the Produce Exchange today.

The Mark Lane Express in its review of the English Grain trade during the past week says:

"Owing to heavy rainfalls, the supplies of native Wheat have been curtailed, causing a firm feeling in the markets. Sales of English Wheat during the week were 55,793 quarters at 29s. 11d., against 29,892 quarters at 33s. 10d., during the corresponding period last year. Flour was steadier. Foreign Wheat was rather against buyers. A fractional advance is quoted on American spring Wheat in Liverpool. Since the greater part of the Wheat held by the California ring passed into the hands of legitimate trade, values have shown a slight improvement. Large shipments of Russian and American continue making the prospect for a material rise doubtful. Seven cargoes of Wheat arrived; seven were sold, five were withdrawn and two remained. Today the supplies were sparing. English Wheat samples were in bad condition. Sound parcels maintained values. Inferior grades were 6d. cheaper. Flour was dull. Corn was steady. Oats were 3d. pence to 6d. dearer."

Stocks and Bonds.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Money on call was active at 3 to 7 per cent. Last loan, 6. Closed, offered 5.

Prime mercantile paper, 7@9 per cent.

Sterling exchange dull but steady at 4.79½ for 60-day bills; 4.83¾ for demand.

Government bonds were dull and heavy.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Stocks were active and irregular. Late advance and high figures at the opening tempted holders to realize, and bears made a vigorous attack. They were aided by the reports of rate-cutting in the southwest. Rates for money were bid to 7 per cent. Vanderbilt and coalers were well supported, and the Canada Southern was remarkably strong, being the only stock showing material advance. In early dealings prices gave way under heavy offerings. About 1 o'clock a decided weakness was shown, and at 2 o'clock the lowest prices of the day were reached. After delivery hour extensive covering and buying for long account took place, causing material reaction. The Canada Southern, Western Union Telegraph and Reading being the most conspicuous. The close was strong, majority active, the list is lower. Manhattan is down 4½, and the Northern Pacific 1 point; Canada Southern is up 3½. Petroleum opened strong and excited at 65c., and advanced before noon to 65¾c. There was rapid rally, but in the last half-hour a decline of ¾c. occurred, and market closed weak, at 65⅞c. Sales, 202,000 barrels.

Evidence of Insanity.

[Harper's Magazine.]

The following experience of a Mississippi lawyer was related by himself to the writer many years ago. He said: "I was defending a prisoner for horse-stealing, and seeing no other means of defending him, under the circumstances, I set up the plea of insanity. I argued it at length, read many extracts from works on medical jurisprudence, and had the patient attention of the court. The prosecuting attorney did not attempt to reply to my argument or controvert my authorities; I seemed to have things my own way, and whispered to the prisoner that he needn't be uneasy. Then came the judge's charge, in which he reminded the jury that there was no dispute between counsel as to the facts of the case. Indeed, there could not have been, for several witnesses had sworn positively that they saw my client steal the horse. 'But,' concluded the Court, 'the plea of insanity has been set up, and I charge you, gentlemen of the jury, that it should receive your very grave and serious deliberation; but I must be allowed to say, gentlemen, that for myself, upon a review of the whole case, I can discover no evidence of insanity on the part of the prisoner, except, perhaps, in the selection of his counsel.'"

He Was a Peaceable Man.

[Madison (Ky.) Democrat.]

A Kentuckian with a large jug made a bargain with a countryman to take him four miles over the hill. "How much'll you charge?" "Oh, a couple of swigs of the stuff in that jug 'll make it about square, I reckon." After the journey had been made and the countryman had taken a swig, he said: "Stranger, I'm a peaceable man, but if you don't want to be chuckfull of lead tonight you'd better find another way to carry yer molasses."

Main Street.

The Eulalie tract contains the best ingredients for a good prescription we know of. Why!!! It is a splendid location. It is beautifully improved. It lies between streets daily increasing in value. Ergo! Grand investment. Good location. Well improved. Daily increase of value. Inquire about it before it is too late. Sale of lots commences Thursday, 8th September. Prices very low; terms easy. Los Angeles and California Land Company, 4 West First street.

Wynetka.

The demand for lots and acres in Wynetka is constantly increasing, but we cannot get ready to put this property on the market before Monday, September 12th, at which time the sale will positively commence. Rounds, Miller & Co., 115 West First street, upstairs.

FOR SALE ON EASY TERMS!

23,000 ACRES OF THE FAMOUSLY RICH

CHINO RANCH!

IS NOW IN THE MARKET IN TEN-ACRE TRACTS.

THE WHOLE TRACT lies near Pomona and Ontario, in San Bernardino county, which has fine public improvements, cash ahead, and enjoys the LOWEST TAX RATES.

THOUSANDS OF ACRES ARE MOIST AND NEED NO IRRIGATION, and may be made immediately profitable by cultivating SMALL FRUITS, garden vegetables, alfalfa, etc. The immense size of the ranch enables buyers to choose tracts exactly suited to vegetables and alfalfa; to oranges, limes and lemons; to olives, grapes, pears, prunes, peaches, plums, apples, berries; to walnuts and other nuts—all staple products with steady and improving markets.

Full-Bearing Orchards and Vineyards

Are growing thriftily WITHOUT IRRIGATION on lands immediately adjoining the dryest part of the Chino lands. No other lands in the State give surer guarantee of the LARGEST PROFITS (at so small cost) realized in the growth of vegetables and all citrus and deciduous fruits, and from

$200 to $1000 Per Acre are Realized

In different parts of the State from many products. THE SOIL IS OF UNEQUALED FERTILITY. It is mainly decomposed vegetable matter, with sand enough to prevent baking in dry and becoming muddy in wet weather. MOISTURE READILY RISES TO THE SURFACE. The whole tract is smooth, devoid of brush and ready for the plow, without gulches or rocks, with a uniform slope of twenty to forty feet to the mile; just right for best drainage without washing.

Artesian and Surface Water

Is plentiful, pure and soft. Artesian water is flowing from wells 150 to 300 feet on different parts of the tract, and an abundance of unfailing surface water from six to eighteen feet. More artesian wells are being sunk. Plentiful supply is assured.

The Title Is Absolutely Perfect.

RAILROAD FACILITIES are good and will soon be better. Depots of the two great OVERLAND LINES are near. Surveys have been made through the heart of the tract by the Pomona and Elsinore and Southern Pacific companies, and a railroad will soon be built connecting directly with two competing overland lines, insuring LOW FARES AND FREIGHTS to all inland and seaboard cities in the United States.

The Town of Chino

Is eligibly located in the center of the tract, with large lots, broad streets, alleys and reservations for SPACIOUS PARKS. It will have steam and motor roads and artesian water. It is certain to be

The Business Center

For a large extent of the richest land in California. The tract now offered will SUPPORT 2000 FAMILIES. Buildings are going up; many are decided upon, with newspaper, bank, etc.

This tract is offered at VERY LOW PRICES at which high interest can be made upon the cost. No other equally valuable land is offered so cheap. Prices are sure to rapidly advance. THE MOST CRITICAL INSPECTION IS INVITED.

Home-seekers, Investors and Speculators

Should examine this property before purchasing. One-third cash and balance in one and two years at 8 per cent. interest.

Carriages and drivers always ready to show the property.

25 Lots in the Beautiful CHIRIOTTO TRACT.

FRONTING ON SAN PEDRO, TWELFTH AND PICO STREETS, NEAR Electric road, and on a projected street-car line. Cement sidewalks in front of lots, all bearing vines and fruit trees on all the lots. The property was subdivided, and is still owned by Mr. Rasch. It is put into the market now at a comparatively low figure and easy terms. One third cash, balance 6 and 12 months. Also,

Business lots on Fort street.
Business lots on Los Angeles street.
Business lots on First street.
Cottages at from $2000 to $3500 in all parts of the city.
Desirable residences at from $5000 to $20,000, many of them magnificent and splendidly located.

We have upwards of forty houses, large and small, for sale, and for investment we offer great inducements in this line of property.

Unimproved lots in any portion of the city at lowest rates.

About the 16th of the present month we will offer for sale the Banner tract of 42 lots on Boyle ave. and Soto street. These lots will be sold at low figures, ¼ cash; balance 1 and 2 years.

WAIT! WAIT! WAIT!

FOR THE WAGON, and WE WILL ALL TAKE A RIDE.

Next week the Mateo and Santa-Fé ave. cars will be running from First and Los Angeles sts. by the electric system to Seventh street, from there to the Gassell tract and city limits by horses till poles and wires can be put up, and then it becomes a part of the electric system, and will be run by electricity.

To inaugurate this grand improvement, H. M. Ames has subdivided the Glassell tract of sixty-five acres into about three hundred and twenty-five lots. One half of each block will then be put upon the market, or as soon as maps can be prepared, for less than one-half their value, say from $100 to $400 each; 15 per cent. down, 15 per cent. in thirty days, balance in six and twelve months. When they are all disposed of, the other half of each block will be put upon the market, at just double the price of the first series.

A free ride to the property and back. Free lunch, a perpetual picnic, till this one-half are all sold. A tent will be erected on this property. Competent persons will remain on the ground to show the property and attend the lunch counter, etc.

THE GREENHORN-SOMMER CONTROVERSY DECIDED BY A JURY.

The Greek Who Persisted in Erecting a Tent Over the "City Hole"—Guilty, but Recommended to Mercy—Interesting Evidence.

The noisy Greek, Morros, last June erected a tent over the corner of the "city hole," on South Spring street, for the purpose of selling fruit. He was arrested for violating the fire ordinance, and was fined $50—the lowest penalty that could be imposed. At that time, on his plea of being poor, Morros paid but the amount of his bail, $20.

Soon after his release he put additions to his tent, and was again arrested. His case has been put off from time to time, the last postponement being on the ground of absence of important witnesses.

His trial by jury came up yesterday before Justice Austin. J. C. Dunn appeared for the prosecution, and J. F. De Puy acted on behalf of Morros.

Before taking testimony a motion for a change of venue, based on an affidavit made by his client, was read by Mr. De Puy. The affidavit averred that affiant had good reason to believe that he could not have a fair and impartial trial before Justice Austin, by reason of the prejudice and bias alleged to exist in the mind of the Justice. That said justice had stated in presence of others that affiant "was too saucy to police officers. That if he would shoot off his mouth less, it would be better for him." That affiant "will find out that he cannot run the city courts, if the Mayor is on his side, that he talks too much with his mouth," and "that the sooner he gets out of that place, the better it will be for him; that the police office is down on affiant, and that he must get out of there."

Justice Austin called Morros up to him after the reading of the affidavit, and questioned him as to his knowledge of the assertions made in the affidavit. Morros could not tell who gave him the information, finally answering that a thousand people had told him. The motion was denied.

The ground set up as a defense was prior conviction.

The first witness called was Officer Dalton, who testified to arresting him on July 13th for a breach of the fire ordinance.

Capt. Tyler testified to the matter of ordering the defendant's arrest.

Morros, the defendant, testified that he had called on Mayor Workman, the President of the Council, Mr. Breed, Chief of Police Skinner and Chief of Fire Department Walter S. Moore. All these gentlemen had not refused him the right, and Mayor Workman had told him to go ahead and build the place.

Mayor Workman testified that the man had called on him and, although he knew it was an infringement against the fire ordinance, still he thought it was a technical objection and of too slight importance to prevent Morros from building a place from which to gain a living.

Mr. Breed testified to telling Morros that it was in violation of the fire ordinance.

Walter S. Moore testified that Morros only asked to build a platform over which he wished to construct an awning to protect the fruit from the sun, but that he had informed Morros that it was contrary to law.

Capt. Tyler, in rebuttal, testified that Morros did call on him and said that the Mayor had given him permission to build the tent, and that he (Tyler) had responded that neither the Mayor nor any other officer had a right to advise him to act contrary to the written ordinance.

City Attorney Daly also testified to the fact of advising Morris as to what the law is on the subject.

The case was argued at length by both attorneys, Mr. Daly reading the ordinance, which provides that all buildings inside the limits prescribed shall be of brick, stone or iron, and that the repairs thereto shall be of the same material.

Mr. Du Puy contended that no case could be brought against his client in the face of a prior conviction, and that it was a case of persecution by the authorities.

The jury was charged and retired for about half an hour, returning with a verdict of guilty, recommending the defendant to the mercy of the Court.

The Court fixed September 8th as the day for sentence. The case will be appealed.

Having received instructions from the Trustees under the will of the late C. C. Hastings to sell the magnificent property known as the

Hastings Ranch,

We shall offer the same as a whole At Auction on Thursday, September 15, 1887,

At 11 o'clock,

In Our Salesroom, 54 N. Main St.

This princely estate, containing 1000 acres, is too well and favorably known to require much comment. It has long been coveted by investors, who will now have an opportunity to make one of the finest subdivisions ever put on this market.
The ranch is adjacent to the Sierra Madre Villa, Sierra Madre townsite, E. J. Baldwin's Santa Anita ranch, is close to Pasadena and the Raymond, has ample railway communications, and other roads are projected through the property.

THE DEACON'S RANCH.

HOW THE BOOM SENT IT UP IN VALUE.

A Good Man Gone Wrong—Weird Scenes After the Midnight Hour on the County Road to San Leandro.

[San Francisco Examiner.]

What old resident of Oakland is there who doesn't know Jeremiah P. Hammersmith? Parson Jerry he used to be called, for in his younger days he was a local preacher of the Methodist church. But increasing years and the responsibilities of a large family cured him of that, and, though retaining his piety, he long ago descended ecclesiastically to the modest station of a deacon. The old gentleman's farm borders the county road midway between Oakland and San Leandro, and there is not in all the State a better cultivated or a prettier little ranch. His thirty acres, set out in fruit and vegetables, have, with the help of the cows and chickens, not only given the Deacon a living for the past quarter of a century, but made him a fairly prosperous man. He has—or rather had until recently—a comfortable thousand or two laid away in the bank. Few better-dressed worshipers entered the church on Sunday morning than his wife and three daughters, and the pair of horses which brought them in the nicely-varnished spring wagon had blood in their veins. The Deacon passed the plate, and was respected by his neighbors. In the conduct of the farm his eldest son and the four younger boys relieved the old gentleman of any more laborious toil than an agreeable exercise of superintending authority. A healthy, cheerful, placid, slow-thinking man, without regrets, and with a mind easy as to the future—who would not envy Jeremiah P. Hammersmith?

"What'd I take for my place?" he said to an inquirer six months back. "Well, mister, it ain't for sale. I've rared my children here, and it's home, d'ye understand, to me and my wife and the young folks. Nothin'd tempt me to sell. What did the land cost me? Oh, next to nothin'; but that don't count. Why, sir, you might offer me $250, or as high as $300 an acre—I've been offered $200—and I'd say no. There's some things, sir, that money won't buy in this world, and my ranch is one of 'em, praise God."

"Maggie," cried Deacon Hammersmith, three weeks ago last Wednesday afternoon, descending from his wagon seat and stumping up the steps to the vine-shaded veranda, "what d'ye think? In Oakland, today, a real-estate feller offered me——"

"I declare to goodness, Jeremiah," exclaimed Mrs. Hammersmith, starting back from the customary homecoming kiss, "if you hain't been drinking."

"Well, fact is, Maggie, it was so excitin' that I did suspend the rules with that real-estate feller once or twice. You've no idea the excitement there is in Oakland. The durn place is wild."

"Durn, Jeremiah?"

"As I was sayin', Maggie," persisted the Deacon, not replying to the rebuke, but raising his voice to an irritated pitch, "that real-estate feller—you know him; it's Joe Wilkins' boy, Billy—he offered me——"

"That Billy Wilkins was always wild and dissipated, Jeremiah, and I've ever said he'd come to no good. You surprise me, you do, 'sociating with them godless, and drinking with them, too, of all things. Where's your example?"

"Durn my example!" ejaculated the Deacon, angrily.

"Durn, Jeremiah?"

"Yes, durn, an' it'll be worse afore you know it, too, if you keep skeetering at me, an' me tryin' to tell you something important and amazin'. Will you hold your tongue? What I started to say was that Billy Wilkins, who's got an office as a real estate feller and is doin' well, met me on Broadway and asked me to take a drink, and——"

"O, Jeremiah! I never expected——"

"Damn! Now you've got it, Maggie Hammersmith. That's right, scream and make a fool of yourself, and don't on no account let me tell you that Bill Wilkins has offered me $400 an acre for the ranch."

"Wha-at?"

"Aha! I thought that'd cure you of your preachin'. Think of it, Maggie—$400! That's $12,000. Twelve thousand! Excuse me, but, holy Moses! Hullo, who's this a comin'?"

A district messenger boy tore up the drive on a foaming mustang and pantingly extended a letter.

"Maggie!" shouted the Deacon, letting the paper drop from his hand, "it's from Bill Wilkins. He says he'll make it $450."

Three hours later, while Deacon Hammersmith was officiating at the family altar, the rattle of wheels was heard, and the doorbell rang violently.

"Who's there?" inquired the Deacon loudly, but not rising from his knees.

A voice answered that it was Mr. Lot Tosser, a gentleman from Oakland.

"Well, you'll have to wait. We're havin' prayers."

Mr. Tosser proved to be a real-estate agent, willing to give $500 an acre for the farm.

"Land sakes!" cried Mrs. Hammersmith; and the three girls said: "Gracious!"

"What'd you do with the ranch if you had it?" asked its owner.

"Cut it up into town lots," said Mr. Tosser.

"But there ain't no town here."

"That don't matter. The boom is here."

"And how many town lots are there in an acre?"

"About twenty-five in a fine, eligible, central location like this."

"An' what'd the lots be worth?"

"O, with judicious advertising and my facilities for management they'd go like hot cakes at $150."

The Deacon figured for a few moments, and then he said to Mr. Tosser:

"That's $3750 an acre. I like your cheek to offer me $500."

"But, my dear sir—"

"I'm nobody's fool. Good evenin', sir."

"Maggie," said the Deacon, "I'm goin' in to Oakland in the mornin' to see about this boom. I believe our everlastin' fortune is made."

And he did go to Oakland.

Early in the afternoon new bonnets for Mrs. Hammersmith and the girls arrived. An hour afterward a piano was delivered. Then came a cask of claret and half a dozen baskets of champagne. Three new horses were led into the yard by an Oakland dealer. A lovely buggy and a phæton followed.

"That man's gone crazy," sobbed Mrs. Hammersmith.

It was very late when the Deacon returned. His face was flushed and his eyes were glassy.

"Extravagance? Bosh, Maggie—we're rich! We're livin' here in an ocean of town lots. Gimme one o' them baskets. What you blubberin' about? Girls, stop your snifflin' an' go to bed. Behave like the ladies you are. Remember that your father's a leadin' citizen now. I was lookin' at a residence in Oakland today. What'd you say to a tower of Europe?"

Far advanced as was the night, the door-bell clanged repeatedly. It was 3 o'clock in the morning when the last offer had been filed. It was $1200 an acre.

The Deacon scoffed at it.

A surveyor approached Mrs. Hammersmith next forenoon. Mr. Hammersmith, he said, had sent him from Oakland to lay out the ranch in town lots.

"You shan't do it," declared Mrs. Hammersmith. "This is my place as much as Jeremiah's, and it ain't goin' to be cut up in patches if I can help it."

So the surveyor sat down to wait for the Deacon. Friends brought him home before dark.

"Take this, Maggie," he said, in a thick voice, when he had staggered to a chair, and he handed her a folded paper with a red seal.

It was a bill of sale of a half-interest in a prominent Broadway saloon.

"Dear me, Sister Hammersmith," ejaculated the Rev. Mr. Asbestos, who made his pastoral call just in time to catch the fainting woman in his arms.

"Let 'er drap," said the Deacon. "She's a fool."

Mr. Asbestos nearly fainted himself.

"Father!" brawled the youngest son, dashing in, "there's a crowd of men here in the yard, an' piles more comin' up the road in buggies."

"Gen'l'men," vociferated Deacon Hammersmith, lurching out to the veranda, "what d'ye want?"

"Give you $1250!" piped the nearest man, a small person with red hair and goggle eyes.

"Make it thirteen hundred!" shouted another.

"Fourteen hundred!"

"Fifteen hundred!"

"Fifteen fifty!"

"Sixteen hundred!"

The deacon laughed aloud, rubbed his hands, and even essayed a little attempt at a jig, but he made no answer to the bids that were hurled at him from fifty throats.

Parson Asbestos, shocked and agitated, came forth, grasped the pillar of his church by the arm and spoke in a tone of low and earnest expostulation.

"Here, there, you feller!" screamed the redheaded little man with goggle eyes, "none o' that now! We're all gentlemen here, an' underground work don't go! Leave loose o' that man an' come out here an' take your chances with the rest!"

"That's the talk!"

"A fair field and no favor!"

"Durn a sneak, anyhow!"

"Don't listen to him, Hammersmith. I'll raise his offer, whatever it is!"

"Maggie!" clamored the Deacon, breaking away from the pastor, "tell the boys to roll out that there bar'l o' claret!"

A mighty cheer rent the atmosphere.

"Brethren," said Parson Asbestos, advancing to the edge of the veranda and extending his hands appealingly. "Brethren, I beseech you as Christian men, with homes of your own, to——"

A great laugh went up.

"This is a new dodge," cried the redheaded man, with a grin from ear to ear. "I'm betting he's a one-lunger from Los Angeles. Them nickel-hunting tenderfeet from the East is strong on piety."

The cask was broached, and the shouting, wrangling, hustling mob swarmed up to it. Dipper in hand, the Deacon, his once venerable countenance degraded by a vacuous grin, ladled out the soul-destroying fluid.

Within, the stricken wife, surrounded by her weeping daughters and distressed sons, sat sobbing. Parson Asbestos gave such ghostly comfort as he could.

Without, the uproar increased. Cheer upon cheer rose upon the evening air as the Deacon passed the dipper. The price of the ranch soared to dizzy figures, but his only answer to bids was a hiccough and a grin.

The moon climbed the sky. Oakland real-estate agents in carriages, in the saddle and on foot continued to arrive. By the time the deacon had been induced to relinquish the dipper and accept assistance to reach his room on the second story, a surging host of boomers had bivouacked in and around the yard. Toward 10 o'clock a San José contingent, headed by a brass band, marched into camp. Agents from San Francisco, San Rafael and Santa Rosa, inflamed by the accounts in the Oakland papers of the failure of all efforts to purchase the ranch, came in wagons, carrying provisions, and prepared for a siege.

The superior enterprise of San José, as represented by the brass band, wounded Oakland's pride. At midnight ear-splitting huzzas announced a coup. Joaquin Miller had been lured from his castle on Fruitvale Heights to read a poem, and Col. John P. Irish, loaded to the teeth with a speech, appeared on a mule.

To the music of the band an irregular advance in force was made at 1 a.m. The little red-headed man with goggle-eyes rapped on the door with the claret-dipper.

"Where's the old man?" he demanded, when poor Mrs. Hammersmith opened wide the portal and stood red-eyed and distracted in the glare of the campfires.

"Oh, gentlemen," she sobbed, "please go away. You've ruined us. My poor husband——"

"Hey, down there! You pore, miserable sinners, ye might as well give it up."

It was Deacon Hammersmith at the window overhead. Leaning far out into the night, his daughters and sons clutching the nether hem of his robe de nuit, he glared down triumphantly upon the mob.

"Eighteen hundred an acre!" bellowed the red-headed man.

"Two thousand," shrilled Mr. Shortridge, of San José, tearing the diamond from his shirt-bosom and bringing it down upon the red-headed man's crown, knocking him senseless. "Say the word and she goes at twenty-five hundred! I'll get there all the same!"

Infuriated by the sight of their brother lying weltering in his gore, the Oaklanders fell upon Mr. Shortridge. The San Joséans fell upon them, and a scene of fearful carnage ensued.

High above the din of battle rose the voice of Deacon Hammersmith:

"I hold her at a million—a million, d'ye hear? And—ye, ye can't have her for that!"

While the wounded shrieked and moaned; while the thud, thud, thud of heavy blows upon human flesh resounded; while horrid curses filled the air; while the night wind caught and carried up in swirling columns the flames of the campfires; while the Deacon screamed of millions from his window, the Rev. Mr. Asbestos, bowed in grief, sat in the room below, drawing up for presentation at the Wednesday prayer-meeting, charges of unchristian conduct against Brother Jeremiah P. Hammersmith.

ARTHUR MCEWEN.

BESSIE DIES OF GRIEF.

Striking Instance of a Dog's Attachment to Its Dead Mistress.

[Cartersville (Ga.) Courant.]

Several years ago a lady in this place gave to one of Mr. J. T. Owen's children a poodle dog, which proved to be a very affectionate creature, and from its first entering the house it became very much attached to Mrs. Owen. It was always playful, and delighted in nothing so much as being noticed, receiving the caresses of visitors as gladly as a child, and gifted with reason.

During the protracted illness of Mrs. Owen the little pet would, at meal time, go to its mistress to be fed, where it received its meals regularly from her hand. During the last few days of Mrs. Owen's illness, when she was unable to give it the accustomed attention, it was noticed even by those who had been visiting the house that Bessie had lost her spirit of playfulness and looked dejected. When her mistress died, on the 18th of April last, Bessie took a position under the bed, and when her body was placed in the coffin, she then changed her position, and remained under the coffin until the remains were taken from the house. For days afterward she clung to that room, lying in a chair beside the bed, and although she had never been known to get on a bed before, she would, after the death of her mistress, jump on the bed and scratch down the cover, evidently hunting for her best and lost friend, refusing most of the time to eat for days at a time, eating so little that it seemed she must necessarily die from starvation. Occasionally she made an effort to rally, but in a short time would relapse into the same state of gloom and despondency.

For the last few weeks she had almost entirely abstained from food until she became a living skeleton. On last Sunday morning when the family arose and opened the door, little Bessie crawled from her comfortable bed on the back piazza and softly crept into the room of her young mistress and stretched herself upon the floor under the foot of the bed and died without a struggle. Her actions from the day she lost her mistress showed plainly that she was grieving deeply and called forth much tender sympathy and added grief to those who already had their load to bear, but who had reason to support them.

The Latest Ballad.

[Cleveland Sun and Voice.]

The "just organized" minstrel troupe is opening the season.

Interlocutor: "Mr. Brown Keetus will now favor us with the lovely ballad—for the first time in this city—'When the Chestnuts Fall Again.'"

Mr. Brown Keetus, in a troche-flavored falsetto voice:

"Oh, I wandered evah strollin'
Where the be-rooklet still is rollin',
An' my darlin' strayed beside me all the way;
An' I said unto the fairy,
'Oh, let us fondly marry,'
An' I added, 'Name, oh, name the precious day.'
Then she looked down coyly blushin'
Till I scarcely could help rushin'
To clasp her close an' still my buzzum's pain;
An' her eyes were very teary
As she answered, 'Yes, my deary,
We'll marry when the chestnuts fall again.'"

Very much mixed chorus—four falsettos and a basso:

"When the chestnuts fall again, and the leaves are on the wane, then I'll meet you, then I'll meet you in the lane; an' we'll kiss again with teahs, as we think of othah yeahs—an' I'll wed you when the chestnuts fall again—fall aga-a-a-in!"

Small boy in the gallery very loudly: "Time's up to-night!"

No encore.

Kissed Us All Around.

[American Magazine.]

Some little time ago a young lady, who had been teaching a class of half-grown girls in the Sunday-school of Dr. B.'s church, was called away from the city, rendering it necessary to fill her place. The superintendent, after looking over his available material for teachers, decided to request one of the young gentlemen of the congregation to take the class.

It so happened that the young man upon whom fell the superintendent's choice was exceedingly bashful—so much so, in fact, that he insisted upon the superintendent going and presenting him to the class. Accordingly the two gentlemen appeared on the little platform, and the superintendent began: "Young ladies, I wish to introduce to you Mr. C., who will in future be your teacher. I would like to have you tell him what your former teacher did, so he can go right on in the same way."

Immediately a demure miss of 14 years arose and said: "The first thing our teacher always did was to kiss us all around."

Jeffersonian Simplicity.

[Chicago Times.]

A Washington paper says that "Worth is building sumptuous gowns for Mrs. Cleveland's next Washington season." This is not exactly in the line of—but Mrs. Cleveland is a great deal prettier than Jefferson ever was, and who cares for Jeffersonian simplicity, anyway?

What Is Needed.

The Springfield Union says that a lot of people who sigh and groan about "the dreary outlook," only need to have their windows washed with a bit of soap and dried with a flannel rag.

FINDING FAULT.

The Ugly Habit Soon Gives One a Bad Reputation.

[From Harper's Bazar.]

It is one of the easiest things in the world to find fault, especially as nothing seems quite perfect. There is the late spring, the weather, the bills, the appetite, the cook, the mosquito, the microbe, and the evolutionist. Besides this, everybody is full of faults, and if we do not see them, it must be because we are not looking out for them. There are one's neighbors nobody knows what a benefaction neighbors are till one can find fault with them. It is only necessary to live with or near people discover how vain and selfish, how extravagant and niggardly, how indolent, how fussy and unlovely they are. In most cases we will discover that it is our friends who find the most fault with us, either because they love us most, or because we are so near them that they more readily perceive our failings than our graces. But it is a mistake to find fault too often; one gets the reputation of a shrew, and the constant nagging is irritating to the temper, and helps no one. To be to another's faults a little blind seems to some the poorest method. We don't need to be told of our failings; nobody is as well aware of them as we are ourselves. We know when we are jealous, when we are ill-tempered, when we are "touchy," when we are awkward and ignorant; and yet many seem to believe it their duty to acquaint us with all our short-comings in an exaggerated manner. If they overlook any other duty, they are diligent to attend to this. With some people it develops into a fine art. In certain moods it is more agreeable to find fault than to praise; it shows more power of mind, more cultivation, more talent for the study of humanity; but those who are the most ready to pursue this art are the most displeased if another connoisseur brings them in turn under his microscope. We are pleased to call it analysis of character when we pick our neighbor to pieces, and wish he was as agreeable as ourselves, and if he should become faultless, our occupation would be gone. We fancy ourselves bent upon reform, but would it not sometimes give us a pang if we could see nothing to caval at?

"Oh, don't the days seem lank and long
When all goes right and nothing goes wrong?
And isn't your life extremely flat
With nothing whatever to grumble at?"

The world would, indeed, be a hollow mockery to many of us if there were not a worm in the bud, a wrinkle in the rose-leaf.

BEER IN FRANCE.

Though German, It Is Rapidly Superseding Wine.

[Paris Letter in New York Post.]

Paris has just held a beer exhibition, and the Parisians profess astonishment at the vastness of the resources and the extent of the industry of beer-brewing as displayed. If the Parisian would, however, take the pains to stroll from end to end of Paris one of these summer evening he would see thousands upon thousands of people seated in the innumerable brasseries or beer halls with which Paris is now studded, and would comprehend how it is that the French brewers alone are brewing 8,000,000 of hectolitres of beer annualy, and between 300,000 and 400,000 hectolitres of foreign beer are every year brought into the country.

There are two parties in France with regard to the beer question. One party is vigorously opposed to what it calls the Germanization of France by beer-drinking and to contributing to German prosperity by drinking German beer. The other points out that England, Belgium, Germany and Switzerland buy every year in France, enormous quantities of the grain which serve to make beer, and that no harm is done to the financial equilibrium of the country by the purchase of a few hundred carloads of German brew. Of course, the enormous increase in the consumption of beer is due to the ravages of the phylloxera.

A distinguished novelist told me the other day that in his native district in Providence, when he was a youth, good wine was always so plentiful that at the cabaret one sou per hour was charged for those who sat drinking, and that frequently vast quantities of wine were given away by prosperous owners of vineyards because they could not consume it, and it would not pay to export it. Today, in the same district, good ordinary wines are as expensive as in Paris.

Beer is cheap and comparatively harmless, and all classes of Parisians are now adopting it as a beverage. M. de Cherville pointed out two or three years ago in an able essay that if this went on for half a generation it would cause a change in the national temperament, and he undoubtedly spoke the truth. German beer trains run into Paris regularly every day, and all the assaults in the press upon this German importation, saying that it is unhealthy, adulterated, etc., have not prevented the French public from buying it.

An Ill Word.

[Daily San Diegan.]

Lieut.-Gov. Waterman, if he reads the LOS ANGELES TIMES, and he should by all means, if he wants a birdseye view of his hastily constructed remarks—will discover the force of the Chinese proverb, that "an ill word once out of the mouth cannot be brought back with a coach and four." An interview, when it gets into cold type, has the devil's own tenacity of life, and bobs up in the most unexpected places. Denials have no more effect than water on a duck's back. It is one of those things that stick like a Southern California boom. Everybody wants to hear about it. The man who denies an interview that is based on facts is prepared to say with Job, "Oh, that I had never been born."

A Revengeful Spirit.

[Merchant Traveler.]

When your family physician gets sick, it is not good form to call and gaze at him every few days. It shows a mean, revengeful spirit.

The Highest Authority.

William Hammond Hall, the State Engineer, who has had years of experience in land and water in California, after a full examination of the Rancho Ex-Mission of San Fernando, reports to the owners of the property, the Porter Land and Water Company, as follows: "You have 10,000 to 11,000 acres, and perhaps more, of really first-rate valley lands for cultivation, with soils not to be surpassed for fertility and desirability by those of any section; lying very favorably for irrigation, and in a neighborhood whose climate is well-adapted to the best class of agricultural, horticultural and vineyard productions usual in this country." Mr. Hall has been employed by the company to devise a complete plan for the irrigation of the tract with the waters flowing from San Fernando, Sycamore and Pacoima creeks, and from the immense cienegas located upon the ranch, and the public may expect the finest water system in California upon this property. Office, room No. 9, Los Angeles National Bank building, corner First and Spring streets. A man always at San Fernando, with conveyances, to show the property.

Adjudication of Insolvency.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF the county of Los Angeles, State of California. In the matter of Jose D. Palomares, an insolvent debtor.

Jose D. Palomares, of Pomona, county of Los Angeles, State of California, having filed in this court his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency, by which it appears that he is an insolvent debtor, the said Jose D. Palomares is hereby declared to be insolvent.

The Sheriff of the city and county of Los Angeles is hereby directed to take possession of all the estate, real and personal, of the said Jose D. Palomares, debtor, except such as may be by law exempt from execution, and all of his deeds, vouchers, books of account and papers, and to keep the same safely until the appointment of an assignee of his estate.

All persons are forbidden to pay any debts to the said insolvent, or to deliver any property belonging to him, or to any person, firm or corporation or association for his use.

The said debtor is hereby forbidden to transfer or deliver any property until the further order of this court, except as herein ordered.

It is further ordered that all the creditors of said debtor be and appear before the Hon. W. P. Gardiner, Judge of the Superior Court of the city and county of Los Angeles, in open court, at the courtroom of said court, in the city and county of Los Angeles, on the 7th day of September, 1887, at 10 o'clock a.m. of that day, to prove their debts and choose one or more assignees of the estate of said debtor.

It is further ordered that the order be published in the daily TIMES, a newspaper of general circulation published in the city and county of Los Angeles, as often as the said paper is published before the said day set for the meeting of creditors.

And it is further ordered that, in the meantime, all proceedings against the said insolvent be stayed.

W. P. GARDINER,
Judge of the Superior Court.

Dated August 8, 1887.

Notice of Foreclosure Sale.

JULES F. DEBLAY, PLAINTIFF, vs. Joseph L. Monnett and Virginie Monnett, defendants. Sheriff's sale No 6151.

Order of sale and decree of foreclosure and sale—Under and by virtue of an order of sale and decree of foreclosure and sale, issued out of the Superior Court of the county of Los Angeles, State of California, on the 16th day of August, A.D. 1887, in the above entitled action, wherein Jules F. Deblay, the above named plaintiff, obtained a judgment and decree of foreclosure and sale against Joseph L. Monnett and Virginie Monnett, defendants, on the 28th day of July, A.D. 1887, for the sum of $198 95, in lawful money of the United States, which said decree was, on the 29th day of July, A.D. 1887, recorded in judgment book 7, of said Court, at page 352 et seq., I am commanded to sell all that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in the city and county of Los Angeles, State of California, and bounded and described as follows: Lot number fifteen (15) in block N, of the Aliso tract, according to the map of subdivision of said tract made by Frank Lecouvreur, in January 1867, said map being recorded in book four (4), pages 12 and 13, of miscellaneous records of Los Angeles county.

Public notice is hereby given, that on Wednesday, the 28th day of September, A.D. 1887, at 12 o'clock m. of that day, in front of the court house door, of the county of Los Angeles, on Spring street, I will, in obedience to said order of sale and decree of foreclosure and sale, sell the above described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said judgment, with interest and costs, etc., to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in lawful money of the United States. Dated this 5th day of September, 1887.

JAMES C. KAYS,
Sheriff of Los Angeles County.

Order to Show Cause Why Decree of Distribution Should Not Be Made.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF the county of Los Angeles, State of California. In the matter of the estate of John Sex, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of John Kearney, the administrator of the estate of John Sex, deceased, and praying among other things for an order of distribution of the residue of said estate among the persons entitled.

It is ordered, that all persons interested in the estate of the said John Sex, deceased, be and appear before the Superior Court of the county of Los Angeles, at the courtroom of said court, in the city of Los Angeles, in said county, on Monday, the 3d day of October, 1887, at 10 o'clock a.m., then and there to show cause why an order of distribution should not be made of the residue of said estate among the heirs of said deceased, according to law.

It is further ordered, that a copy of this order be published for four successive weeks, before the said 3d day of October, 1887, in the Los Angeles TIMES, a daily newspaper printed and published in said county.

W. P. GARDINER,
Judge of the Superior Court.

Dated Aug. 29, 1887.

Stockholders' Meeting.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that at a meeting of the board of directors of the Los Angeles Cable Railway Company, held August 24, 1887, it was

Resolved, that a meeting of the stockholders of this corporation be called, and the same is hereby called, to be held on the 14th day of September, A. D., 1887, at the office of the corporation, room No. 9, No. 122 North Main street, Los Angeles, Cal., at which meeting there shall be submitted to the stockholders a proposition to authorize the board of directors to prepare and cause to be executed 1500 bonds of the denomination of $1000 each, payable thirty years after date, with interest payable quarterly, at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, said amount being necessary to construct, equip and complete its street railway lines; and to secure the same by a mortgage upon its property and street railroad lines in the city of Los Angeles; such bonds to be thereafter issued and sold by the board of directors.

And that said notice be published in the Los Angeles TIMES until date of meeting.

A Positive Proof That Cancer Can Be Cured.

MR. A. R. SHANDS is a well-known farmer, whose residence is in Spartanburg, S. C. He is a man of means and education. His standing in his community is A 1 for truth and probity. While Mr. Shands refrains from using the word cancer, the facts he gives settles the question of the nature of his disease. He says his physicians never said the sore was a cancer, but that they all warned him that there was great danger that it might turn into a cancer. At any rate none of them could afford Mr. Shands the slightest relief, and finally he was cured by S. S. S., the finest and only absolutely certain blood purifier in the world. Below is Mr. Shands' own letter about his cure. Let any one suffering from a similar ailment write to Mr. Shands and learn from him the exact effects of the wonderful medicine that cured him.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., April 2, 1887.

GENTLEMEN: For twenty years I have had a sore on my left cheek. It had gradually been growing worse. The many physicians whom I had consulted were unable to do me any good. Last fall a year ago I began using S. S. S. At first it inflamed the sore and it became more virulent than ever; so much so, indeed, that my family insisted that I should leave off the medicine. I persisted in using the S. S. S. At the end of two months the sore was entirely healed. Thinking that the evil was out of my constitution, I left off the medicine; but in November, ten months after, a very slight breaking out appeared. I at once began again on S. S. S., and now that is also disappearing. I have every faith in S. S. S. It has done me more good than all the doctors and other medicines I ever took.

Yours truly, A. R. SHANDS.

$2000—50x150 on Figueroa.
$5500—8-room house; good location; cheap.

Also, nearly 100 lots in the Hafen tract, on Central avenue. This beautiful tract was put on the market last week. It is near the intersection of Pico and Wolfskill street (now Central avenue). Remember, these lots are not out of the world, but near the center of the city. EIGHTY FEET AVENUES. FIVE-FOOT CEMENT WALKS. Lots 40x140 feet; alley to every lot, and not a key lot in the tract. Lots $750 to $1200; easy terms. At these prices the lots are CHEAPER THAN THE ACREAGE CAN BE BOUGHT FOR ADJOINING. Don't hang back on these chances. Inside property from first hands is almost gone. Strangers, especially, should call and see this tract.

I am headquarters for Michigan and Wisconsin, and would like a call from my lumbermen friends.

35 acres on Vermont avenue and Eighth street; price, $42,000.

41 acres 1¼ miles from Artesia.

23 acres two miles south of Agricultural Park, on the San Pedro road and on proposed dummy line to Rosecrans; price, $625 per acre.

12 acres of inside city property, covered with orange trees; this is a bargain. My option expires Monday, and it cannot be had for 20 per cent. advance after that time.

RANCHES.

201 acres near San Jose; fine, level tract of foothill land; small fruit orchard; house and barn; this property will soon double in price, as it is in Greenfield neighborhood; price, $200 per acre.

200-acre ranch near Gilroy, on main grave road and on railroad; this is a bargain if taken soon, if not you lose it; price, $160 per acre.

Here is the rare bargain of the season—1200 acres near Hollister; on good gravel road; all fine fruit and alfalfa land and A 1, with seven flowing wells, the water-right of which is a fortune, for Santa Clara valley must have it. These wells throw a six-inch stream thirteen feet above ground, and is the finest water in California. I invite inspection of this tract by parties who have money and judgment. I have personally inspected these ranches, and can assure you I have selected them for their merit.

If you have any acreage property that is a good buy, bring it in. My Kansas City men will put the knife into it quick. I want real live BARGAINS to offer my customers.

THE GODDESS OF THE PACIFIC.

A Great Statue a Thousand Feet Above the Level of the Sea.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

Adolph Sutro, of San Francisco, the owner of a park near that city, proposes that the Goddess of Liberty in New York harbor shall have a twin sister on the Pacific shore to take up her enlightening rays and flash them forth toward the Orient. Certain prominent natural features on his property are the Twin Peaks, the highest commanding a superb view from ocean to bay.

On the one side lies the bay and the existing city; on the other the site of the city of the future and the blue waters of the Pacific Ocean, while to the north grim Tamalpais raises its lofty head, and on the south thousands of valuable acres lie. These peaks occupy a most central position, immediately between what will in a few years be the old city and the new, between the city proper and the outside lands of Southside. Upon the higher of the Twin Peaks is to be erected the Goddess of the Slope and work is now progressing to cut out a foundation in the solid rock. The peak, as the Chronicle furnishing these data explains, is the same distance from the bay on the north as from the bay on the east and the ocean on the west, or about three miles each way, and there is no elevated point which has so central a position. The height of the higher of the two peaks is 905 feet, being forty feet higher than the sister peak. When the torch is lighted, its silver rays will be shed from a center 1000 feet above the sea level, and the advantages and effect of such a beacon cannot be overestimated. The sister Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island, the gift of the French Republic, although a far larger figure, is only 306 feet above the sea level.

The two peaks were known in early days as Las Papas, or the breasts, and by the mission fathers were called the Bosom of the Virgin. The name is a very apt one, as from a certain point of view, the two peaks present the graceful curves of the female bosom, and immediately suggest the likeness which has given them their name.

The statue to be placed on the peak summit ought possibly to be called a group, as there will be two figures, one erect and the other prone. The erect figure is that of a woman holding aloft in her right hand a torch, the arm being inclined, and the torch of much the same style as that of Bartholdi's figure. In her left hand outstretched she holds the sword of justice. Lying at the feet of Liberty is a nude male figure representing despotism or anarchy and striving to clutch the sword held high above his head. The female figure is draped in Grecian dress, and the expression of the face has been very happily hit, while the features of the fallen despot express intense hatred and malignity combined with an appearance of effort to tear down the uplifted arm. The figures will be from the base to the top of the torch eighteen feet high, well-proportioned and effectively grouped. The □ pedestal will be twenty feet high with a plinth round the bottom and plain cornice at the top. The base will be eleven feet square and the top seven feet square. The rock on which the entire structure rests will be trimmed and beveled for a depth of five feet. The corners of the pedestal will be of dressed stone for the entire height, the panels being roughly faced. The material of construction for both figures and pedestal will be bluish sandstone. The cost of the figures is set down at $5000. The cost of the whole, including the electric apparatus necessary for a powerful light, may be set down at double the sum, which, of course, does not include the cost of road construction. The designs are those of a young German architect, Gustav Behrend. The sculpture of the figures will be done by a young German named Ludwig Oehlman. The entire work will take upward of two months to complete.

Country Editors.

[St. Joseph Herald.]

If, in all this busy world, there is a man who earns and deserves a holiday it is the editor of a weekly paper in a small town. If there is one man in the community to whom that community owes good will and hearty support it is this self-same editor. Those who write a column a day for the daily papers of the cities think it would be a continual round of pleasure to be compelled to get out but one issue a week, and so it might be if this editor did no more than write the articles that appear from week to week. But when it comes to soliciting advertisements, collecting accounts, writing the editorial, attending to the local news, making up the forms, setting a few "ads," feeding the press, to say nothing of looking after the politics of town, county, State, district and nation, the country editor has very little time for amusement, and his family see so little of him that they are not quite sure whether it is the proper thing to hail him as a guest or as a familiar and friendly spirit.

And it is not a bed of roses in which he rests, by any means. There are always men who think they know so much more about the proper policy for the paper to adopt than the editor. These men usually consider they have done their duty by the paper when they have given their advice; their subscription and their advertising are sent off to some "metropolitan" paper. There are men who are always willing to subscribe, but who are seldom, if ever, able to pay. Their moral sanction is excellent; but their financial [illegible] hardly calculated to pay [illegible] bills, or to put avoirdupois [illegible] the editor's baby. There are men who want free advertising by the column for their business, for their son's business, for their daughter's beauty, for their wives' dresses, but when it comes to paid advertisements they grow very frigid and very exclusive.

Because these men when they travel upon railroads are given passes; because they have free tickets to the fairs and circuses, there is a popular delusion that they do not need much money. But they are men, and they have their homes and wives and children, and traveling and going to circuses and fairs, do not pay doctor's bills and buy bread, and so they must have money, and they get it after a fashion, though in a much less quantity than the same amount of energy, the same amount of brains, the same amount of genuine American push would guarantee them in any other line.

The schoolhouses, the churches, are doing no more to advance civilization and develop American manhood than are the weekly papers, made and circulated by these same editors. They deserve the good will and support of every man in the community in which they are published, because they are doing more to build up that community than any ten business men in the town.

The "country editor," as he is called, in this great nation is a force at which his metropolitan brothers cannot afford to sneer. His hand has been at the helm so long and has been found so steady, so firm and so unflinching that the great dailies must perforce take off their hats in respect as he passes by.

The Largest Lots in Pasadena.

The responsible, to next August $1000, in the Raymond Improvement Company tract, in front of the Raymond Hotel. It being constructed, and it is having the effect of creating a boom in the lands surrounding that hotel. The Raymond Improvement Company has its first subdivision ready, and they offer the cheapest lots in Pasadena for sale. The lots are selling very fast. Smith & Jacobs, who are the shrewdest speculators in Pasadena, purchased 125 lots in this tract at one time last week. They propose to build houses and mark up the lots to about double the company's present prices, and purchasers may look for a general marking up in a short time. Fair Oaks avenue is to be widened to an 80-foot street, and Smith & Jacobs intend to build a handsome business block. Four elegant cottages already contracted for. An electric road from Los Angeles to the tract is already under headway, and the company has also agreed to give the right of way and a bonus to another road, which will run from the Raymond Hotel, through their land, to Long Beach. Apply to Raymond Improvement Company, room 10, Los Angeles National Bank building, corner First and Spring streets.

Go and See the Colony Lands!

Prospective purchasers of land and town lots in the Coöperative Colony tract, desiring to visit the land, should take the 9:40 a.m. train from Los Angeles to Compton. At Compton they will be met by the colony's carriage, and conveyed to and over the tract, free of charge. Returning to the city, they will ride back to Compton in time for the incoming train.

Call at the colony office before starting, and procure tickets for the carriage ride.

Rooms 3 and 4, Newell block, West Second street.

TO BE GIVEN AWAY TO THE PURCHASERS THE LOTS.

THIS BEAUTIFUL SUBDIVISION IS SITUATED AT THE THRIVING CITY OF MONROVIA, WITHIN three minutes' walk of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe depot and street railway. It is one of the most highly improved places in the county, being set to every variety of deciduous and citrus fruits, all of which are now in successful bearing. A row of stately eucalyptus twelve years old, surround the tract. One house on the tract cost $3000. There are four cottages now built costing no less than $1500 each, and two additional ones being built. Two lots have good barns on. One has a large cistern. All of which Mr. Stephens proposes to

GIVE AWAY

To the purchasers of the lots. A large reservoir is now constructed and will be deeded to the purchasers of the property. Pipes are laid to every lot, and the water supply is unlimited, being under the famous DUARTE SYSTEM, which everybody knows is one of the best in the country, coming, as it does, from the well-known SAN GABRIEL CANYON.

As soon as the lots are all sold the drawing will occur at some public place, at which each purchaser will be notified and requested to attend.

A CHOICE INVESTMENT!

THE CELEBRATED BARTON RA

OF 1150 ACRES, AT OLD SAN BERNARDINO, CONCEDED BY ALL TO BE THE CREAM OF THE ORANGE GROWING SECTION IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, HAS BEEN PURCHASED BY A SYNDICATE OF WELL-KNOWN BUSINESS MEN AND CAPITALISTS. THEY HAVE INCORPORATED, WITH A CAPITAL STOCK OF $500,000, THE

"Barton Land and Water Company."

THE LOCATION OF THIS MAGNIFICENT PROPERTY CANNOT BE EXCELLED. REDLANDS, THE town of phenomenal growth, joins it on the south; beautiful Lugonia on the east; Gladesta on the north, and San Bernardino—which is fast becoming a prominent railroad center—lies six miles west. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad is now building a line through this ranch, to be completed October 1st. The Southern Pacific Railroad are also locating their line two and one-half miles through the same, and a Dummy Road will be built from San Bernardino as soon as the company can determine and locate the route. At a point where these three roads converge will be located the TOWN OF BARTON.

THE WATER SUPPLY of this property cannot be excelled in all California. It has three separate water rights, either one of which is ample for all its requirements.

THE CLIMATIC ADVANTAGES of this valley are unsurpassed, attracting people with weak lungs and throat trouble from all parts of the country. It has an altitude of 1600 feet, a dry atmosphere, and is free from harsh winds.

One-half the stock of the company has been taken by the incorporators, and a limited portion of the remainder will be sold on the following liberal terms: Fifteen per cent. cash and 25 per cent. on or before September 1st, when the stock certificates will be issued. The character of the incorporators is a guarantee that this is a safe and desirable investment.

The Mirror Premium Sewing-Machine.

$22.00 for a $75.00 High-Arm Sewing-Machine AND THE WEEKLY MIRROR.

THE MIRROR

Perfect and Improved High-Arm Sewing-Machine

☞ $22 this machine and WEEKLY MIRROR, postage paid, for one year.

This machine is the first of its kind ever offered the public at factory prices, and cannot be bought from agents for less than the regular selling price, $75. It is the high-arm pattern, has self-setting needle; cannot be run backward; has automatic cut-off for driving belt, which prevents it from being run backward, thus avoiding all dangers of breaking thread or needles. It is a noiseless, light-running machine, accompanied by an illustrated book of instructions that makes everything so plain and simple that any lady or child can master it. We call it the MIRROR HIGH-ARM SEWING MACHINE, and we warrant it to give full and entire satisfaction in every case, or it may be returned to us within ten days after the subscriber has received the same, if it fails to be as respresented, at our expense, and the money will be refunded.

The above cut represents our HIGH-ARM MIRROR SEWING MACHINE, the very latest improved machine of the high-arm style; a complete embodiment of all the most recent improvements in sewing machine mechanism; a model selected by us after a careful and critical examination and test of the various machines in the market.

Having arranged with the manufacturers to supply us with these machines in large quantities for spot cash at or very near first cost, we can save our subscribers at least $35 on the price of each machine. As this is the first time a sewing machine of this character has been offered to the public at about manufacturer's cost, we feel confident our readers will promptly take advantage of this opportunity to provide themselves with first-class high-arm machines, which obtained in any other way would cost them almost three times the amount.

We could fill several columns expatiating on the merits of this high-arm machine, but to save the reader's patience we will simply say that it contains all the modern improvements, is strong, simple, durable, light-running and noiseless.

OUTFIT—Each machine is supplied with the following outfit: One Hemmer and Feller (one piece), Twelve Needles, Six Bobbins, One Wrench, One Quilting Gauge, One Screw Driver, Oil Can filled with Oil, Cloth Gauge and Thumb-screw and a Book of Directions. The following extra attachments are also furnished free: Ruffler, Tucker, Binder, Set of Wide Hemmers and Shirring Plate.

The regular retail price of this machine is $75. Our price with a year's subscription to the WEEKLY MIRROR is only $22.

Knowing the character of the machine and the high grade of material and workmanship entering into its construction, we have no hesitation in agreeing to return the money at once to any subscriber who is not fully satisfied on examination that our high-arm machine is fully equal to our representations, we paying freight on return of the machine.

CAUTION—Sewing machine agents will tell you, "Beware of Cheap machines." We tell you buy the high-arm machine on trial, and if not satisfactory return it. No agent can sell you its equal for less than $75. Each part of the machine is fitted with such exactness that no trouble can arise if any part is broken, for a new piece can be supplied with an assurance of a perfect fit.

The High-Arm Machine is carefully packed and shipped by freight from Chicago.

Freight charges are to be paid at point of delivery by the subscriber.

Give shipping directions plainly, as well as the postoffice address the paper is to be sent to.

☞ The LOS ANGELES DAILY TIMES—Any person desiring the Daily and this Sewing Machine can have the same by mail for $29.

HOW TO ORDER.

When you remit us the $22 for the Machine and WEEKLY MIRROR one year, write plainly the point the machine is to be shipped to, as well as the postoffice the paper is to be sent to. The machine should be ordered to the nearest railroad point where the railroad company has an agent stationed, and the name of railroad station, the county and State should be stated. When $22 are sent for the WEEKLY MIRROR one year and the machine, the freight charges from the factory are to be paid by the subscriber at the point Machine is delivered to.

We would advise subscribers to order machine sent by freight, as the freight charges are about one-third to one-fourth of express charges; and while the time taken in the carrying of the machine is a little longer, they go just as securely and safely as by express. The machines will be shipped direct from the manufactory (Chicago), all set up ready for use. The money will accompany order. Address,

TESTIMONIALS:

"GIVING PERFECT SATISFACTION."
PASADENA, Cal., Oct. 30, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: The Times-Mirror Sewing-Machine is giving perfect satisfaction; in my opinion it is as good as any $65 machine. I have not done any heavy work on it yet, but I think it will do it all right. J. W. Ross, Pasadena, Cal.

"HIGHLY PLEASED WITH IT."
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 20, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: In reply to yours of 26th would state that I am highly pleased with the Premium Sewing-Machine I received with the MIRROR. Gives every satisfaction; so easy to learn how to manage; does such excellent work; in fact cannot praise it too much, and would not take twice the amount it cost me. I am, yours respectfully, MRS. EDWIN BROWN.

"THE MORE WE USE IT, THE BETTER WE LIKE IT."
PASADENA, Cal., Oct. 28, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: I have used your sewing-machine since last July. The more we use it the better we like it. On fine and heavy work it is splendid. We have tried the attachment. In fact, it goes ahead of your advertisement so far.
MRS. S. A. WARE Pasadena, Cal.

"LIKES IT BETTER THAN THE $125 SINGER."
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 1, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: The machin gives entire satisfaction. My wife likes it better than the $125 Singer that it has replaced. Yours truly,
JOSEPH WILSON.
With Perry, Mott & Co.

"GIVES GOOD SATISFACTION."
EAST LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 1, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: We have the High-Arm Machine and use it for light family sewing. It gives good satisfaction.
Yours etc. S. W. TRUE.

"RUNS SMOOTH—AND SEWS EVERYTHING BUT BUTTONS."
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 20, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: The report from the chief engineer of the sewing-department of my domestic establishment is to the effect that the sewing-machine lately furnished by you for $22 arrived in good order and in due time, and has given entire satisfaction. It runs lightly and with very little noise and performs to perfection all kinds of sewing work with the exception of buttons. Very truly yours, WM. P. WADE.

"TRIED 'EM ALL AND LIKES THE MIRROR MACHINE BEST."
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 20, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: My wife tried several $75 machines, and chose the Mirror Premium Sewing-Machine as an equal to the best in the market, for one-fourth of the money. It is perfect in all particulars, and admired by all who see it. My wife has been using it several months, and we both cheerfully recommend it to the public, as represented. WM. L. PRICE, 218 Temple Street.

"SAME IN WORKMANSHIP AND MATERIAL AS THE HIGH-PRICED ARTICLE."
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 21, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: Having sold hundreds of the Remington Sewing-Machines for $65, which you are now offering with the WEEKLY MIRROR at $22, I wish to say that the machine you offer is identically the same as the high-priced article both as to material, workmanship and capacity. Being a resident here and an experienced sewing-machine man, I will take pleasure in instructing any one in working the machine, in this place or vicinity.
C. E. SPENCER.

"IS DELIGHTED WITH IT."
POMONA, Cal., Oct. 25, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: The High-Arm Mirror Sewing-Machine came in good time, in excellent condition, without scratch or blemish, and I am delighted with it.
We believe the machine is all that you recommend it to be, and think it a rare opportunity for those who may a want a machine to get a first-class one cheap. Yours truly,
MRS. J. W. STRINGFIELD.

"PERFECT IN EVERY RESPECT."
NORWALK, Cal., Oct. 26, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: The High-Arm Premium Machine arrived in prime condition, and is perfect in every respect. Freight $2.50, with first cost added, making $22.50 for as good a machine as are usually sold through agents for $75. Well pleased. Yours respectfully,
MRS. E. C. CRANSTON.

"VERY MUCH PLEASED WITH IT."
DOWNEY, Cal., Oct. 26, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: I am very much pleased with my machine, as far as I have used it, and feel safe in saying that I have just as good a machine as if I had given $65 for it. Shall advise any of my friends to try this before buying any other, as I think it is fully as good as represented. Very truly,
MRS. MARTHA ALLISON.

"RUNS LIGHT AND EASY—DOES ITS WORK WELL."
PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 29, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: I can say in regard to the machine that it is well liked. It runs light and easy, and does its work well. It is a very cheap machine at price you furnish it. Yours truly,
S. M. SHAW.

"EQUAL TO BEST SHE EVER USED."
COMPTON, Cal., Oct. 29, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: The High-Arm Sewing-Machine ordered from your company was received in good order, and Mrs. Parcel says it is equal to the best of any other kind she has ever used. Very respectfully,
WM. T. PARCEL.

"PROVES SATISFACTORY."
SAN GABRIEL, Cal., Oct. 25, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: The sewing-machine we received through your office proves satisfactory. Truly yours,
W. F. BRADLEY.

"WIFE THINKS IT THE BEST SHE EVER USED."
EUSTIN CITY, Cal., Nov. 3, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: We received Premium Sewing-Machine through your office, and my wife thinks it the best she ever used, consequently are well pleased.
J. W. MCLELLAN.

"SUPERIOR IN SOME RESPECTS TO THE BEST."
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 20, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: My wife and daughter are well pleased with your Times Mirror Sewing-Machine. They have used several of the best makes of machines and yet say your machine is superior in some respects to those they have used, and in no way inferior. They were at first afraid, as many are, no doubt, that it is too cheap to be first-class, but are now satisfied that it is as good as machines costing three or four times as much. Yours truly,
S. A. MATTISON.

"TIGHTENED THE SCREW AND SHE RUNS ALL RIGHT."
NEWHALL, Cal., Nov. 3, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: Yours of the 1st inst. received. Will say in reply that soon after I wrote you I discovered the cause of the trouble. The little tension screw in the shuttle had worked loose and was nearly out, and the shuttle thread, in sewing fast, would catch on the screw and break. I tightened the screw and it now works like a charm; no more breaking thread or irregularity of stitch.
Very respectfully, L. A. MYERS.

"ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS THEY EVER MADE."
ORANGE, Cal., Oct. 22, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: We received our High-Armed Sewing-Machine in good order, and I am very much pleased with it, and consider it one of the best investments we ever made. It is nicely finished, and runs strong and light, doing nice work. Any one needing a good machine I do not think can do better than invest $22 in the machine and MIRROR. Respectfully yours,
MRS. U. L. SHAFFER.

"MORE THAN SATISFIED AND GLADLY RECOMMENDS IT."
ORANGE, Cal., Oct. 22, 1886.
Times-Mirrors Company: I thank you for sending to us for testimonials, as I have sat my new machine in the parlor, without even threading it, as I was very busy and had a good machine ready for work and used to running. So I did not take time to do anything with the new one until I received your letter. Then I brought mine and went to running it to test it. I was more than satisfied, and gladly recomend it to those in need of a machine. I think I would have gained time to have used it long ago. Our little girl wants to write a letter to Mrs. Otis for the children's column. So if it is not worthy of a place there, just drop it in the waste-basket please. As ever,
MARTHA M. SHAFFER.

"EQUAL TO ANY $65 MACHINE."
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19, 1886.
Times-Mirror Company: For the benefit of those who stand in need of a good sewing-machine, I will say, that after using the Premium Machine for about four months, I find it equal to any $65 machine I have seen. Yours, etc.,
MRS. A. W. WORM,
Corner Oak and Ocean, Los Angeles.

[illegible] Diseases Malarial and Responsible a Remedy.

[Kansas City Star.]

"I am full of malaria," is one of the most hard-worn of the expressions with which the numerous class of people who have begun to feel the effects of physiological offenses bore their fellow men. The doctors say "malaria" is a much abused term. Certain it is that it is a much used term.

When Dr. Gib Carson, secretary of the St. Louis Board of Health, was asked yesterday what it was, and in what localities it was most likely to exist, he replied:

"I don't know. The only man who ever knew is dead."

Every now and then a burial certificate contains as the cause of death "malarial fever." But those give no trace of the locality in which the disease flourishes most. They come from all parts of the city, and the distribution is quite equal.

"People abuse themselves in various ways until their systems quit acting harmoniously," a prominent physician explained, "and in nine cases out of ten the first ill-feeling that sets in is, according to their diagnosis of the case, malaria. The women dance too much or take no exercise, lace tightly, keeping unseemingly hours, eat irregularly, and sleep in poorly ventilated rooms; while the men carouse about town till morning and eat and drink to excess. Then they have malaria. Eight out of ten of the cases of alleged malaria among men is caused by drinking whisky. Their system becomes weakened, and they suffer from general disorder."

"Why don't the doctors wipe out the mistaken idea of the disease?"

"Well, it would frequently throw the 'malaria' sufferer into a passion to tell him what ails him. That would be a violation of professional ethics, but it would be unnecessary. The doctor can just as well go on treating him for his real ailment and let him believe he has fashionable malaria. That is the policy view of the case. Malaria is a big thing in this country now, and to reduce it to its natural proportions would require united action on the part of the profession."

"Is there any real malaria?"

"There is a class of diseases that may as well be called malaria as anything else. The word malaria suggests bad air, and it is generally believed that swamp land produces the disease. The Mississippi Valley is considered a hot-bed for it. Northern Indiana's low, swampy spots and clay soil should be one of the most fertile malarial regions, according to the generally accepted idea of the generation of it in this country. But it is not. The Ohio Valley was once notorious as a malaria factory.

"There are a score of systems for malaria, but none of them are capable of standing a test. A certain Roman professor says the disease is due to a vegetable germ which certain conditions call into life. He claims that it is found in all kinds of soil, and that a warm, humid air, the oxygen of which being allowed to come in contact with the germs, will quicken them into life.'

"Is there a cure for genuine malaria?"

"Quinine will knock out pure malaria. That is, if there is no complication of diseases, or none of the causes existing that produce fashionable malaria."

The Rich Cattle Queens.

[Boston Traveller.]

The richest widow in Colorado was the wife of the late John W. Iliff, who was known some years ago as the cattle king of Colorado. Iliff left about 100,000 head of cattle, and it is said that his widow managed his estate as well as any business man could. She went to Colorado as a sewing machine agent, though she came of a wealthy family and could have remained at home doing nothing. She there met Iliff and married him, and I doubt not the experience she obtained in connection with the sewing machine aids her in the management of her fortune. Speaking of cattle, there is a cattle-queen in Texas, near Corpus Christi—Mrs. Rogers—said to be worth $1,000,000, and who has many times as much stock as Job had in his most prosperous days. Her husband is a preacher, but Mrs. Rogers manages the business. She sells the stock herself, buys all the supplies, and can ride a horse as well as any of the many cowboys whom she has in her employ.

She Didn't Go.

[Nebraska State Journal.]

"Mother," said a 5-year-old demon just as Mrs. Oldboy was preparing to leave home on a six weeks' visit, "what's become of the fur you used to wear last winter?"

"Locked up, Willie; why?"

"Say, has wings growed on it?"

"No. Why do you ask such silly questions?"

"'Cause I heard pop say this morning he would make the fur fly while you were away."

The trunks were at once unpacked and the look that came into Mrs. Oldboy's face made the clock strike 34.

$40—Meadow Park Lots—$40.

THE BEST PREMIUM OFFERED

By any Paper in the United States.

THE MOST PRACTICAL! THE MOST RELIABLE!

Everybody should have a copy of our "FAMILY PHYSICIAN."

This book contains 544 pages; is eight and one-half inches long, six inches wide and two inches thick. It is printed on extra heavy paper and is handsomely bound, with embossed cover and gilt-lettered back.

IT IS DIFFERENT FROM ALL OTHER WORKS OF THE KIND EVER PUBLISHED.

FIRST—It teaches those who have it how to tell what the matter is when some one gets sick. All similar books tell what to do—if you know what the disease is. THIS BOOK TELLS YOU HOW TO RECOGNIZE THE DISEASE, and then what to do for it. No other book published does this.

SECOND—When a person is really attacked by a dangerous disease, it enables you to know the fact, and in such cases its advice is, "Send for a competent physician at once." In all ordinary cases, such as can be cured without a doctor (and most of the ailments in a family are of this kind, if only you could recognize them), it gives full directions for treatment. The point is, that it teaches you the difference between a dangerous and a trifling disease and tells you when it is necessary and when it is not necessary to call a physician. No other book published does this.

THIRD—It gives separately, and for each disease, the methods used by each of the different "schools of medicine," and in all cases the prescriptions are made by the most eminent men in their respective mode of practice. This makes the work specially suited to the needs of every family, no matter what school of medicine they prefer—the Allopathic, Homeopathic, Hydropathic, Eclectic or Herbal. NO OTHER BOOK PUBLISHED DOES THIS.

WE WILL SHOW YOU HOW IT DOES THIS

If you will call and see us.

Please read these indorsements of distinguished physicians which were sent to the publishers of this grand work:

Having examined the advance sheets of the work entitled "Our Family Physician," I can say that I find it accurate in its descriptions of diseases and reliable in its therapeutical department. N. F. COOKE, M.D.,
Professor of theory and practice, Hahnemann Medical College.

I hereby certify that I have examined a work entitled "Our Family Physician," and find it to be correct in its diagnosis, and, in my opinion, worthy of the confidence of the public. H. S. HANN, M.D.

I have examined the advance sheets of "Our Family Physician." It gives me pleasure to recommend the work as correct in its mode of treatment of diseases, and it deserves wide circulation. J. F. COOKE, M.D.,
Professor in Burnett's Medical College, Chicago.

After examining the publication "Our Family Physician," I can fully indorse the opinions expressed of its merits by the above gentlemen. R. A. GUNN, M.D.,
Professor of the Burnett Medical College.

The book contains a valuable chapter of symptoms, which will aid wonderfully in diagnosing diseases, and the proper remedies are given for Allopathic, Homeopathic, Eclectic, Hydropathic and Herbal.

Every family should have a guide to health to assist the family doctor. not intended to take the place of the doctor in every instance, but to help you do everything possible in his absence.

—:TO OUR OLD SUBSCRIBERS:—

It is customary with newspapers to give premiums to new subscribers only; but the publishers of the MIRROR mean to reverse this old rule; they intend to do as well, at least, by their old subscribers—those who have stood by the paper in years past, and paid their money for it "right straight along." We propose to show our appreciation of these friends in a substantial manner; and as the premium to be offered is expensive, and as our express object in offering it is to increase our list of subscribers, we will require every old subscriber who may renew his subscription, in order to receive the valuable premium, to bring in AT LEAST ONE NEW SUBSCRIBER, to whom the premium will be given, as well as to the old subscriber.
